BABY SHOW ACCIDENT

Results in Three Suits in Superior Court

Jameson Case Went to Jury This Morning and Was Followed by Three Suits Against the Boston & Northern

The case of Mrs. Kate Jameson vs. Arthur H. Vinal went to the jury shortly after the opening of court this morning, and the next cases in order were those growing out of a rear end collision of electric cars in Lakeview avenue on Aug. 24, 1908, when two cars loaded with women and children, enroute for the baby show at Lakeview came together.

The plaintiffs in one case are Nellie Conroy, a passenger on one of the cars, who sues for personal injuries, and her husband, Patrick Conroy, who sues for loss of services, etc.; and in the other the plaintiff is Irene Lawless, a little girl who was with Mrs. Conroy on the car. The B. & N. is the defendant. Messrs. Hogan for the plaintiffs, and Trull & Wier for the defendant.

Mrs. Conroy testified that when the crash came, she and the Lawless child, with others, were thrown from their seats, Mrs. Conroy being precipitated into the street. They were taken into Sparks' drug store, where the little girl was attended by Dr. Tighe. Mrs. Conroy felt no serious effects at the time, and went out to Lakeview to tell some women of the accident whose children

In the House of Commons, Although He Had Promised Concessions

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Premier Asquith was assaulted by suffragettes in the precincts of the house of commons today and was saved from rough handling only by the prompt arrival of a strong body of police.

Since the reopening of parliament delegations of suffragettes have picked the approach to the lower house so closely that the premier has been obliged to resort to strange devices to circumvent the petitioners.

In addition to this campaign the women members of radical election committees threatened a revolt unless the government recognized their claims prior to the general election.

Premier Asquith before the assault upon him had yielded to the importunities of the suffragettes and in the house of commons today announced that if he was still in power at the next session of parliament, the government would give facilities for the consideration of a women's franchise bill, so framed as to admit of free amendment.

It seems that the premier's promise made in the commons today that if successful in the coming elections the present government would give facilities for the discussion of a suffrage bill in the next parliament instead of placing only in the women, who decided that Mr. Asquith was simply playing with them.

At a meeting at Caxton hall Miss Christabel Pankhurst characterized the minister's statement as wholly unsatisfactory and "nothing more nor less than an insult to the cause." The women, she harangued, considered the premier's attitude a declaration of war and they would answer the challenge immediately.

The Municipal Caucuses Opened at 11 O'Clock Today

Disagreeable Weather May Keep Many Voters Away From the Polls — No Excitement But a Steady Vote

This is caucus day and while last night gave indications of a fair day for the voters, disagreeable weather conditions prevailed throughout.

If this were election, it would be called a "democratic" day, for it has been the belief from time immemorial that the democratic party cannot be deterred from voting on election day by anything less decisive than death itself, while the republicans "duck" on a bad day.

The polls opened at 11 o'clock and city hall was a busy place all morning the same procedure being in vogue as on election day except that it was gone through after the routine business of city hall had begun, thus giving the municipal building an appearance of unusual confusion.

The regular precinct officers were at their posts and the appearances about the polling places indicated a regular election rather than a caucus.

The different candidates for municipal office in both parties were to be seen at the different polling places, although in comparatively few cases were there checkers and ralliers as is witnessed on election day.

Last night report had it that the friends of Royal K. Dexter, republican candidate for mayor, had rallied to his support with 100 automobiles and would get out the stay-at-homes of the republican party, but indications about the polling places today didn't indicate that such was the case. There were autos manned by friends of Mr. Dexter but there was no organized work by checkers such as one would expect in such a case. The republicans, however, appeared to be making a particular effort to get out the vote.

The democratic vote will be large in all probability on account of the active but clean cut contest for purchasing agent. Of course the democratic majority is all in favor of Mayor Meehan, unless the voters go too far in casting votes elsewhere on the assumption that His Honor has a walk-over. There was some talk of this last night downtown but those who talked it were reminded of a few cases in which such action resulted badly and were quickly discouraged.

The polls will close at 8 o'clock and the result should be known before midnight.

MASKED BURGLAR

Got Away With Silver Case, Watch, Chain and Ring

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—A tall masked burglar, wearing a long overcoat and a slouch hat which was pulled over his eyes, confronted Mrs. R. B. Sheppard, wife of Professor Sheppard of Yale, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Badley, parents of Mrs. Sheppard, as they entered their home in Cranford, N. J., last night. The man was heard moving about upstairs and Mrs. Sheppard was about to go up to investigate when the masked man appeared at the head of the stairs with a dark lantern in one hand, a revolver in the other. Mrs. Sheppard made a move as though she was about to open the front door and cry for help when the voice of the burglar arrested her.

"Don't move a step or I'll shoot! I don't want to hurt any of you and the best thing for all of you to do is not to bother me as I intend to leave this house without interference."

All this time the burglar was descending the stairs and keeping the old couple and Mrs. Sheppard covered with the revolver. He ordered them to back into a corner of the rear hall. He then opened the front door and escaped.

The burglar took with him a silver case, a gold watch and chain and a gold ring from Mrs. Sheppard.

STILL THEY COME

Two More Candidates for Mayor Took Out Papers Today

Two candidates for mayor, one a socialist and the other a charter revisionist, took out nomination papers for mayor at the city clerk's office this forenoon.

William J. Carroll is the socialist candidate, and the charter revisionist candidate is James Hogan. Mr. Hogan is 21 years old and cast his first vote this year. He is in the insurance business and lives in Pine Hill street.

"I believe in the Des Moines charter," said Mr. Hogan, "because I think it paves the way to economical government. I always looked upon our common council as something absolutely unnecessary. One board and good men on that board is what we want. We want to arrange it so that we could tell where to place the blame." Mr. Hogan said he had not decided as to whether or not he would make any gate speeches. He said he did not think he could get sufficient time away from his business.

Mr. Carroll, the socialist candidate, has written several articles for the papers and is quite well known. He wields a fluent pen and he's a good talker. While both of these candidates got their papers this forenoon they will have to get 226 signatures before the board of registrars will O. K. their names. There are no socialists in the field other than the candidate for mayor. Mr. Carroll says that he will conduct a vigorous campaign and he says he will give the other fellow some questions to answer.

Councilman Tracey Wants Storm Guards on the Bridge on Church Street

For twenty-five minutes, beginning at 10 o'clock this forenoon, the basement of the city hall was a pretty lively place and never were ballot boxes moved with quicker despatch. It took just 25 minutes to start 64 boxes, 27 policemen and 14 teams on their way to the various precincts, and City Clerk Dufman allows that that was going some.

Pay Day Tomorrow

In order that city employees may have their money for turkey and other Thanksgiving specialties they will be given their pay tomorrow instead of Friday. Come early and avoid the rush.

At the meeting of the common council to be held this evening, Councilman Tracey will introduce an order for $300 for storm guards for the bridge in Church street.

BROKE INTO JAIL

Mob Freed Prisoners and Looted Town Shops

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 22.—At 11 p. m. in the fight 20 were killed and 80 wounded. The soldiers are now in possession and the revolutionists fled to the mountains. A big sign has been posted at the international bridge connecting this city with Juarez, Mexico, forbidding any person to pass over between the

In the hands of the government forces. It is asserted that the revolutionists have gone toward San Pedro de las Colonias, state of Coahuila. The telegraph lines have been repaired and communication opened. The situation on the border here remains unchanged at 5 a. m. No disturbances have taken place in Juarez. Street cars from this side of the river will be allowed to cross the line at 5:30 and ordinary traffic will be resumed.

Advice here this morning are to the effect that two special trains from Mexico City reached Torreon at 4 o'clock, bringing a battalion of infantry and one of cavalry north to Chihuahua. It is stated that these forces will be distributed along the northern frontier wherever needed. The soldiers will reach Chihuahua late today.

The railroad of soldiers sent out from Chihuahua to Parral have been detained at Jimenez. The news from Parral and to guard against threatened trouble there. It is stated that a battle is expected to take place there at daylight. No advice have been received concerning the situation at Parral this morning. The Mexican government has declared a monopoly on all telegraph lines, both federal and private, according to information received here this morning. It is said that no message can be transmitted except under government censor.

About 500 Mexican laborers who have been employed by the United States railroads are passing through the city daily bound for interior Mexican points. The men have become alarmed over the rumors of revolutionary troubles and are returning to protect their families. Many, it is said, will enlist with the revolutionists.

MEXICAN FRONTIER HAS BEEN PLACED UNDER A CLOSE GUARD

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 22.—With practically all lines of communication in the hands of the Mexican government, with the frontier closely guarded and all travel over the international bridge at this point forbidden between the hours of midnight and 6 a. m., knowledge of the situation in Mexico this morning is vague.

From the meagre information which filtered through last night, however, it is known that the situation is critical in the extreme. Serious disorders were reported from points in seven different states, the territory affected spreading in fanshape from a point less than 100 miles northwest of the City of Mexico to the United States border. In addition fighting is reported in Puebla, southeast of the Mexican capital, and in Orizaba, state of Vera Cruz, which lies to the east of the City of Mexico.

Francisco I. Madero, head of the anti-re-electionists in Mexico, is reported to have entered the country at the head of a force numbering approximately 1000 and Mexican troops are moving north to meet him.

Rumor has it that Gen. Bernardo Reyes, the military hero of the country, who was implicated in the uprising two years ago and who has been practically an exile since, has reached Mexico and the report gave tremendous impetus to the revolutionary cause.

United States troops along the Mexican border are under arms, ready to move at a moment's notice, and dispatches from Washington clearly indicate the uneasiness felt by the federal authorities.

Outbreaks occurred at Durango, Guerrero, and Gomez Palacio in the state of Durango, Parral in the state of Chihuahua, Torreon and Hernandez in the state of Coahuila, Acambaro in the state of Guanajuato and Cuernavaca in the state of Zacatecas and Puebla in the state of Puebla.

The most serious feature of the uprising is the report from Gomez Palacio that three hundred federal troops went over to the revolutionists taking with them large quantities of arms and ammunition.

Troops are being rushed to all points where disorders are reported and it is practically certain there has been heavy fighting at many places, with much bloodshed.

Early this morning it was reported that the Mexican government has assumed charge of all the telegraph lines within the republic and that no message can be transmitted except under strict government censorship.

Every street in Juarez is being patrolled by military this morning. Double guard was on duty over the municipal prison, the federal arms, banks and custom house last night.

The Associated Press correspondent was stopped and questioned every block when he entered the city this morning.

CAPT. PEARSON

Still Confident of Adj't General's Place

The attention of the militia has turned from inspecting the chances of the various candidates for the position of adjutant-general to an examination of officers who are mentioned as likely candidates for the four staff positions of adjutant-general, major, captain and lieutenant. The four candidates are Major Ira Vaughn of Salem, Philip S. Brown of Nahant, Talbot Aldrich of Boston and Guy Murchio of Boston.

These officers are all likely to be replaced by others who are closer in touch with the governor-elect. While the incoming commander-in-chief may select such men to act as his personal aides, as he sees fit, he is obliged to seek only those who can show military service. This will not be found difficult, for many active and ex-officers of the militia are willing to sacrifice themselves, as are a number of ex-officers of volunteers who would not object to putting on the uniform once more in so peaceful and agreeable a service.

Douglas, as an assistant inspector-general, and has had long service in the M. V. M. The friends of Capt. Pearson of Lowell remain confident, while Col. Lombard is said to be holding a place still in the hearts of his supporters that they claim is duplicated by Gov. Foss. Adj.-Gen. Brigham's friends, and they are legion, are giving the governor-elect all the material in the way of endorsements that they can raise, and feel that he is the one logical man for the position. As uniforms have to be ordered and the lucky fellows measured for them long before January, it is very generally said by military men that the suspense will be over on or before Thanksgiving day.

TO FIGHT LODGE ROAMS THE WORLD

Foss to Conduct a Novel Campaign

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—William A. Gaston, democratic candidate for the United States senate, will hold a conference today with Governor-elect Eugene N. Foss.

This conference will mark the beginning of one of the most remarkable political campaigns in the history of Massachusetts.

The purpose of the conference is to lay out plans for the conduct of what Governor-elect Foss calls "a pitiless, persistent, publicity campaign" against Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

When Mr. Gaston called Mr. Foss on the telephone yesterday and asked him when he proposed to start the campaign, the latter told him to polish up his automobile and get ready for meetings tonight if he wanted to.

In order to conduct the campaign against Senator Lodge, Mr. Foss will be obliged to give up most of his speaking engagements out of the state. There is no particular political significance in the meeting between the big democratic leader and the newly elected governor, because Mr. Foss is emphatic in his statement that he will not declare for one candidate as against another in the fight against Senator Lodge.

In the unique campaign which he is to inaugurate it is his plan to invite all the candidates against Senator Lodge to speak from the same platform with him. Every candidate is to present his issues straight to the people and theoretically the people are to communicate their wishes to their representatives in the legislature.

FREIGHT RATES

The Shippers' Hearing Resumed Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The shippers' hearing in the investigation into the suspended advance in freight rates on the eastern trunk lines was resumed at the interstate commerce commission today. About a dozen representatives of brewing interests at Milwaukee and furniture interests at Grand Rapids, Mich., were present to testify. By arrangement with Louis D. Brandeis, for the Atlantic seaboard shippers, the brewery and furniture cases were consolidated and C. J. Burtch, general traffic manager of the Schlitz Brewing Co., was selected to take the stand. He spoke for both the furniture and the brewery interests, their contentions being similar. This arrangement saved considerable time in the hearing, which will continue, as announced by Mr. Brandeis, all this week.

TOMMY LEACH

REPORT THAT HE WILL SUCCEED MANAGER LAKE

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22.—Although not officially confirmed by W. H. Locke himself, it is an open secret here among newspaper men that Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pirates, is looking for an able man to succeed Mr. Locke as secretary of the Pittsburgh baseball club. The only inference that can be drawn from this fact is that Mr. Locke is to become the head of the Boston National league team. It is a fact that the tender has already been made of the position to Mr. Locke by John P. Harris, who at present controls the Doves' directorate.

A rumor that will not down among baseball men here is, that Locke will take Tommy Leach, the Pirates' crack outfielder, to Boston and make him manager of the Doves to succeed Manager Lake. Leach and Locke have been close friends for many years, and Leach undoubtedly has his eye on a managerial berth for some time. It is known that he would welcome the opportunity. Dreyfuss, it is claimed by those who know, is one of the principal stockholders in the Boston National and is said to have been dissatisfied with the handling of the club's affairs during the past year. Locke and Leach would be the real Dreyfuss force in Boston. This arrangement also suits Mr. Harris perfectly.

Girl Died and Man Has Wandered for Twelve Years

CLINTON, Nov. 22.—George Christopher, a bricklayer, who has been employed on the new Armory mill of the Lancaster Mills corporation, and who speaks several languages, has left Clinton to resume a world wandering life that will continue, he says, until he meets death, and where, by what means or how soon that happens, he says he doesn't care.

Twelve years ago next January, according to his story, Mr. Christopher was to be married to the handsomest, bravest and best girl in all Texas. The marriage was to have been on the 21st, but arrangements were complete and the bride-to-be was as happy as could be displaying as fine a collection of wedding gifts as one could wish to see.

On the afternoon of Jan. 19, two days before the wedding, the girl suffered a sudden and acute attack of appendicitis. She was rushed to a hospital in San Antonio, and an operation was performed, but within twelve hours the girl was dead.

From that day Mr. Christopher has been a wanderer. Broken-hearted, he left San Antonio the day his sweetheart was buried and has never returned. In 12 years he has been all over this continent, to his old home in Norway and in parts of South America.

At his trade, according to those who have worked with him, Mr. Christopher is an expert, who can demand the highest pay, and in addition he speaks and writes English, Swedish, Norwegian, Spanish and French, besides having a working knowledge of Russian, Italian and Polish.

Where he is going, Mr. Christopher says he does not know. To Boston first, and then by train, by boat, perhaps by aeroplane, to some new, untried country.

Before leaving Clinton Mr. Christopher told his story for the first time to friends.

"Money? Do you think it is money, boys, that is deciding me to leave so suddenly?" he asked, and went on:

"Why, right this minute I have a chance worth $12 a day to me and I'm turning it down. I'm turning it down because I couldn't agree to stay in one place two years and keep my word."

"I've been in Clinton now some six months and that is the longest I have stayed in one place for almost 12 years in January."

"Yes, a woman is at the bottom of it, but not a trouble-making woman. She was a slip of a girl only 19, with flashing black eyes. Like you read about in novels. We were to have been married Jan. 21, 1899. Two days before, even while she was arrayed in wedding finery and surrounded by wedding presents that would delight the heart of any girl she was stricken acutely with appendicitis and in 12 hours she was dead."

"I left Texas right after the funeral and since then have wandered all over the world. I have tried to forget, but it isn't easy, and when I can stand it no longer, I move. I travel, I go anywhere, everywhere."

MR. F. B. SHEDD

ADDS TO HIS GIFT OF PARK LAND TO THE CITY

Freeman B. Shedd will make another gift of land to the city together with Shedd park. Mr. Shedd has purchased the corner lot situated at Rogers street and Knapp avenue, opposite the beautiful granite gate to the new park. Mr. Shedd purchased the land in order to prevent the erection of buildings thereon that would not harmonize with the surroundings. Landscape architect Bowditch, the man who prepared the plans for the park, has prepared plans for developing the additional piece of land and Mr. Shedd will offer it to the city as a gift.

Mr. Shedd also suggests that Knapp avenue which skirts one side of the new park should be put in such condition as would be in keeping with the rest of the surroundings. He says this work should be done by the street department. The avenue at present is in an unimproved condition.

SENATOR CARTER SLATED FOR U. S. SUPREME COURT

SENATOR THOMAS H. CARTER

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 22.—Friends of United States Senator Thomas H. Carter, who was defeated for re-election, say that the senator has received a tender of an appointment to the United States supreme court to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Associate Justice Moody. The senator is on his way to Washington. Senator Carter is fifty-six years of age. In 1882 he was chairman of the republican national committee.

THEFT OF $1,940 BOWLING SCORES

Is the Charge Against Lively Contests On the Holyoke Man Alleys

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—Following information received from Holyoke yesterday, Samuel I. Shaw, who was bookkeeper for Nelson Morris company in that city, was arrested early last evening in the South End by Detective Sergeant Norton and Inspector Frank Metcalf of Holyoke on a warrant charging him with the larceny of $1,940, the property of the firm.

It is alleged that last Wednesday at the close of business he changed the combination of the safe after extracting the money and departed. The following morning the safe could not be opened and it was necessary to send to Boston for an expert. When the safe was opened the alleged theft was detected.

A search was made for Shaw in Holyoke, but without success. Yesterday morning a letter was received in Holyoke which was traced, and it is alleged that it was from the missing man and gave an address in the South End. Inspector Metcalf hurried to this city and saw Deputy Supt. Watts, who detailed Detective Sergeant Norton on the case.

The police allege Shaw admitted his guilt. He went back with Inspector Metcalf.

CANADIAN TURKEYS

WILL NOT BE SO PLENTIFUL THIS YEAR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Less than half the supply of Canadian turkeys will be available for Thanksgiving day on account of the "blackhead" epidemic now prevailing in all the turkey-growing sections of Ontario, according to consular reports. The Dominion biologists report that the disease is killing turkeys there by tens of thousands. A remedy has been prescribed by the government and announced broadcastly, but a big shortage of turkeys for Thanksgiving is considered likely.

BAT NELSON, WHO WILL MEET MORAN IN FRISCO

BAT NELSON

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—Bat Nelson, the former lightweight champion, and Owen Moran, the English crack, are in great shape for their 20 round battle to be held here Nov. 26. Nelson claims that he has improved considerably since his contest with Antonio LaGrave here recently, in which he made a poor showing. While he does not claim that he will put Moran away by the knockout route, the former champion says he is sure he will receive the decision. On the other hand, Moran thinks Nelson has become a prominent member of the "has-been class" and expects very little difficulty in defeating the Battler. In Moran the former champion will have to meet one of the toughest nuts in the ring today. He is a clever two-handed fighter and has a knockout wallop in either hand. Should Nelson defeat Moran he will challenge Ad Wolgast.

OLYMPIC GAMES

CLEVELAND RECOMMENDED AS PLACE FOR HOLDING THEM

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—That the day is not far distant when athletics will be dignified as a branch of the national government with a director who will sit in the president's cabinet, was the prediction made at the annual dinner of the Amateur Athletic union last night, by James E. Sullivan, secretary and treasurer of the union. Mr. Sullivan was one of the principal speakers at the banquet, which wound up the annual meeting of the union.

Among the important events of the day was the recommendation by the union of Cleveland as the place of the Olympic games in 1916. The international committee of the A. A. U. will pass upon this recommendation. The next Olympic game will be held in Stockholm, Sweden, in 1912.

The election of officers resulted in the choice of Everett C. Brown of Chicago as president for another term. Henry C. Pennington of Baltimore, his most serious rival, withdrew. Mr. Sullivan was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

At the banquet last night Mr. Sullivan spoke of the growth of athletics in the schools, "not as a means of education, but as a part of education," and continued:

"Athletics have gone into the schools to stay, and it is only a question of time when it will go into the state. Some of these days we will have a member of the cabinet representing athletics. I don't know what his title will be, but he is coming before many years. The big men of America are interested in athletics and it behooves the Amateur Athletic union to stand on a square and manly platform for fair competition. We want to be in a position to say to all that we are for fair competition honestly conducted."

George S. Fisher of the Young Men's Christian association warned the association against becoming too autocratic. "You would be surprised," he said, "If you know how many requests came to me to organize a great athletic federation in opposition to the A. A. U. Many of these requests come from persons who disapproved of the action of the union in outlining the inter-collegiate alliance of Chicago. There is a spirit abroad in the land against the idea of centralization. The Amateur Athletic union has been too self-sufficient."

TWO GREAT BILLIARD PLAYERS TO PLAY FOR 18.1 TITLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The eyes of the billiard men are centered on the coming match between William Hoppe and George Slosson for the 18.1 ball line billiard title to be played here Dec. 1 and 2. The men will play 500 points a night for a purse of $1,000 and the receipts, the winner to take all. The match was originally set for Nov. 2, but owing to Slosson claiming that he did not have time to practice and get into shape to play at his best he forfeited. Slosson claims that he will be in grand shape for his match with Hoppe this time and he believes that he will surely capture the honors from the boy wonder.

MITCHELL WINS

Democrat Was Elected to Congress

WESTON, Nov. 22.—The recount of this town's vote in the 4th congressional district election, made yesterday, completed the recount for the district, and reverses the original result for the short term.

By the recount John J. Mitchell of Marlboro, democrat, is elected for the unexpired term of the late Congressman Charles Q. Turrell, while William H. Wilder of Gardner, republican, is elected for the regular term.

The recount in Weston resulted in the loss of one vote in each term for Mitchell, owing to defective marking of a ballot.

Wilder's original plurality for the short term as corrected the day following election was 26, but it appears now that it was really 34. Owing to an error in transmission Wilder's vote in Leominster was given as 104, whereas it was 109. On the recount in Leominster Wilder really gained only four, while he was credited with a gain of 12.

In the light of this correction the pluralities for the two terms on the recount, compared with the original returns are as follows:

Short term—Mitchell wins by 18 votes; Wilder's original plurality, 34 votes; a gain of 52 votes for Mitchell. Long term—Wilder wins by 130 votes; Wilder's original plurality, 129 votes; a gain of one vote for Wilder.

SMOKELESS
OIL HEATER

Absolutely smokeless and odorless

It quickly gives heat, and with one filling of the font burns steadily for nine hours, without smoke or smell. Has automatic-locking flame spreader which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back, so the wick can be cleaned in an instant. It has a cool handle and a damper top.

An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font. It has a filler-cap which does not need to be screwed down; it is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for reworking.

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in Japan or nickel. It is strong, durable and well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

SKIPPER AND WIFE

Were Carried to Watery Grave
by Collision

Sad Tragedy in Which Schooner
Midnight Was Sunk Off Beaver
Harbor

CANSO, N. S., Nov. 22.—Carried down by the stricken craft which had been damaged in a collision, Captain Samuel Whiston of the schooner Midnight and his sea-going wife, were drowned off Beaver Harbor last night in the moment when safety seemed certain. The schooner Lila D. Young, which collided with the Midnight during a heavy snow squall, arrived here yesterday with three members of the Midnight crew, reporting the accident. The three survivors, Rupert Whiston, brother of the captain; Wm. Power and Harvey Power, said yesterday that at 9 o'clock Sunday night, while a stiff breeze was blowing, with a heavy thick snow squall, the Midnight's lookout saw the lights of a schooner hundred miles. The cry of warning which he sounded came too late to avoid collision, and the craft which proved to be the Lila D. Young, Margaret's boy for Canso, with a cargo of ice, struck the little Midnight abreast of the foremast, her bow being for a time rammed in the great hole which was made.

Aboard the Midnight, the first thought of all was for the skipper's wife who was asleep in the cabin. All hands started to her aid, but Captain Whiston bade them save themselves. With his brother he went to the cabin.

Mrs. Whiston was brought on deck, thinly clad, in the snow squall. Rupert Whiston clambered over the side of the Lila D. Young, prepared to assist Mrs. Whiston to safety. Captain Whiston had just lifted her when the vessel lurched, forcing itself from the Lila D. Young and Mrs. Whiston fell back into her husband's arms on the deck of the foundering Midnight. Before anyone could assist them, their craft sank, carrying the skipper and his wife to a watery grave.

The Lila D. Young, herself badly damaged, cruised about the vicinity for several hours but no trace of the captain and his wife could be found.

The Midnight was bound from Prince Edward Island for Halifax.

POLICE OFFICERS

ARE TO RECEIVE GIFTS OF TURKEYS

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Turkeys can go to any price the dealers like, the New York policemen won't care. Commissioner Cropsy announced yesterday that through the generosity of an unidentified donor, there will be turkeys for all the force from the first inspector, down through patrolmen, elevator men, doormen, bed makers, matrons and chauffeurs to the official "boots." Brooklyn, Staten Island and Bronx policemen though, will have to buy their own turkeys or go without. All told $309 turkeys will be distributed in Manhattan. The cost to the anonymous donor will be about $10,000 even though he buys wholesale.

CARLISLE

A suit against the town for $500 in behalf of Warren L. Floyd, architect of Lowell, has been entered by F. A. Fisher, of Lowell. Notices of a special town meeting to be held Jan. 23 to consider the matter have been posted. This case has been pending for the last three years, and grew out of the building of the Highland school.

PRESIDENT ELIOT

Will Deliver Address on
Des Moines Charter

The committee of sixty on charter revision held a well attended meeting at the board of trade rooms last evening with William N. Osgood presiding, in the absence of William H. Wilson, the chairman. Two delegates, C. A. Lathrop and Edward Garneau of the central committee of socialist organizations in Lowell, were admitted to the meeting.

Secretary Murphy called attention to the fact that interesting articles in the Des Moines plan could be found in McClure's and Everybody's Magazines. Rev. Charles F. Billings of the committee on public utility made the welcome announcement that ex-President Eliot of Harvard university had consented to come to this city Nov. 30 to speak on the Des Moines charter idea. He indicated that an opportunity would be given to ask questions. The committee immediately voted to engage Associate hall and to take steps to insure President Eliot a large audience. The public is invited.

Dr. J. E. Lamoureux reported for the finance committee. He stated that the fund, left a small amount of money which in the absence of objection would be applied to the current charter movement.

Henry H. Harris of the executive committee reported a list of 200 organizations which will be invited to send representatives to the mass meeting of Nov. 30. He suggested that a list of speakers be prepared.

John W. McEvoy of the drafting committee asked instructions on two questions:

1—Shall the police power now vested in the police board of Lowell (relative to police) be transferred to the proposed municipal council, as in the Haverhill charter?

2—Shall the purchasing agent's department be retained? And, if so, shall he be elected by the people at large, or by a majority vote of the municipal council?

Purchasing Agent Mackenzie was present and he spoke at length in favor of the existing system of purchasing supplies.

After adjournment, the committee held a joint meeting to arrange for the Eliot mass meeting.

CAUSED A PANIC

FIRE IN A RAINCOAT FACTORY
IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—An employee of the Hub Raincoat company at 30 Kingston street stepped on a match at the factory yesterday and a spark set fire to a quantity of rubber cement, which burst into a blaze causing a panic among the 26 or more employees. Most of the workers were women and all rushed to leave the building by a narrow stair. The women were into the street badly frightened and coughing from the smoke.

An alarm was sounded by Abraham Figgelman. When the apparatus arrived the flames were bursting from the windows of the top floor and the glass was cracking from the heat in adjoining buildings. Ladders were run up from both sides of the building and after the first streams were playing on the fire it was soon controlled. The damage is estimated at $1000.

WHALE RAMMED

Leviathan Run Down by
Steamboat

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—Officers of the San Jose, in yesterday from Port Limon, Costa Rica, told of an encounter with a big whale when the steamer was off Jamaica. The Leviathan was lying motionless and apparently asleep on the surface of the water when the San Jose, steaming 12 knots, came along.

The monster had been sighted by the lookout and passengers and crew lined the rail to get a look at it. To the amazement of everyone on board the

ONE LOWELL MAN

May Have Been Killed in Explosion in Acton

The Lowell police have been called upon to assist in identifying the body of the man who was blown to pieces by an explosion at the plant of the American Powder company at Acton on October 9th. Dr. Henry J. Walcott of Concord, Mass., the medical examiner, is anxious to learn the whereabouts of the relatives of the deceased if he has any.

It is thought that the man belonged in Lowell, but up to the present time there has been no attempt to locate any missing man who might have been an employee of the place.

The man killed was about five feet, six inches tall, weighed about 150 pounds, was wearing a brown serge suit, a blue check shirt with red dots, a gray sweater and a purple four-in-hand tie.

From evidence discovered at Acton, it may be a man named Davis, a woodchopper who was in the habit of frequenting the lumber camps in that vicinity. Charles Bonte of this city is sought to identify the body as he is believed to have known Davis. No body of the name has been reported missing although the man has been out of the city for some time.

Among the saloon passengers was Nathan Benedict of New Brunswick, N. J., a civil engineer, who had been surveying in Costa Rica.

Besides her cargo of 30,000 bunches of bananas the steamer brought three sacks of soil for experimental purposes.

A term of six months in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kansas, and pay a fine of $1000, imposed by a jury in the United States court in Kansas. The sentence of that court was affirmed by an order of the United States circuit court of appeals, filed yesterday.

Warren was accused of sending through the mail envelopes on the outside of which was printed "$1000 reward will be paid to any person who kidnaps ex-Gov. Taylor and returns him to the Kentucky authorities."

The indictment charged that the words were defamatory and threatening, and intended to reflect injuriously on the character of William S. Taylor, a former governor of Kentucky.

JACKIE KILLED

VICTIM OF UNITED STATES FLEET
RACE WAR

FALL RIVER, Nov. 22.—A cablegram has been received by Jeffrey F. Sullivan of Bedford street from Cherbourg, France, that Patrick Fitzsimmons of Fall River, a sailor on the U. S. S. Louisiana, was dead as the result of a fight between the white and negro members of the United States fleet's crew. The cablegram came from the captain of the U. S. S. Louisiana of the North European waters. A confirmation of this report has been received from the navy department in Washington.

Fitzsimmons was a son of Michael Fitzsimmons, caretaker at St. Vincent's Orphan Home, and formerly a member of the firm of Plannegun & Fitzsimmons. The victim of the fight was in his 26th year, and had been in the navy between six and seven years. He was in this city last August and spent several days with his father. He was the only son, and his father alone survives him.

The body will be brought to this city for burial.

MAN WAS KILLED

H. Doyle Was Trampled
to Death

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—Henry Doyle, 21 years of age, of 104 Fayerweather street, Cambridge, and employed at the University Press, was trampled to death by a runaway team of horses on Willard street, Cambridge, yesterday.

He was on his way back to the office, after dinner, when he saw a pair of big bay horses belonging to Alwood & McManus, box manufacturers, of Chelsea, galloping down the street without a driver. Although hauling a four-ton load the frightened animals had halted a few minutes before and had thrown the driver, Edward Bryson, to the street.

Doyle ran in front of the team, waving his arms, and caught one of the horses by the bridle. Bystanders say that he had reduced the speed of the team greatly and seemed to have them under control when he lost his grip and fell under the horses' hoofs. The team was caught soon after.

THE BRITISH CRISIS

Premier Asquith announces to the British nation that the parties revert to a state of war. A truce had been agreed upon and a conference committee was appointed for the purpose of reaching a crisis. But after a series of meetings and long and heated discussions it was found impossible to reach a basis of compromise. The lords would not yield to the demand of the liberals and the latter would not budge an inch. There was no alternative but to report a disagreement. The whole question is now to be submitted to the people and unless we are greatly mistaken the British democracy will not brook any dictation from the sole remnant of feudalism represented by the house of lords.

The labor party of England, strange to say, seems to be wavering in its loyalty, but it is quite probable that during the course of the campaign the labor forces will line up with the liberals in favor of removing the one great obstacle to all popular reforms—the veto power of the upper house.

THE LATE COUNT TOLSTOI

It is difficult at present to say what the effect of Tolstoi's works will be on posterity, but his portrayal of Russian misdeeds has set the people a-thinking and will probably cause them to think more seriously of his graphic descriptions of the more sordid tragedies of life, now that he is dead.

He was a great painter of the realism of life in Russia and so fierce were his exposures of oppression in Russia that his last work was promptly suppressed by the government. He was the advocate of the simple life and even of asceticism, but although he hated oppression he despised war and revolution and hence never sympathized with the movements of the anarchists or terrorists who wanted to overthrow the government by every means in their power, including the bomb and the torch. By a variety of vagaries on religious and other topics in the latter years of his life, he alienated the confidence of many who formerly believed in him and in his works. He has been a great figure in the literary world for many years and nobody regrets the oddities by which he cut himself off from the Greek church and Russian society more than the czar.

FOSS VERSUS LODGE

Governor-elect Foss does not intend to let Senator Lodge be re-elected if he can prevent it. Foss believes that his own election was a protest against the high handed policies of the republican party represented by Senator Lodge. Mr. Foss now announces that he will make a statewide campaign against Mr. Lodge if the latter does not withdraw. But that will not cause the senator to withdraw any more than did the letter of Congressman Ames, making the same request before the state election.

Mr. Foss has been in conflict with Senator Lodge for some years past. It is not long since Mr. Lodge ordered Foss to get out of the republican party and into the democratic. Foss took his advice, and now as democratic governor he will have a word to say about the re-election of Senator Lodge. It will not do to assume the role of boss in this matter, for public sentiment seems to be set against bosses of all parties just at the present time. But any reasonable plea made by Mr. Foss against the political work and influence of the senator will have its effect.

Hon. John L. Bates and others are mentioned for the place. It would be well to make a change and to select an able man, one who if not distinguished as a scholar will at least serve the interests of his state and never descend to the level of a political sandbagger who can be relied upon to sink his convictions of right and fight for republican and trust measures no matter how damaging to the people. Yet that has been the role played by this scholar in politics for years. Had Senator Lodge proved himself a man of principle like Senator Hoar, a man who would scorn to do wrong, he might have been president of the United States, because he is undoubtedly an able and a brilliant man. But scholarship and brilliancy count for nothing when not governed by right principles.

THE SHEDD SKATING PARK

It is somewhat encouraging with the approach of winter to realize that we are to have a large portion of the Shedd park flooded and turned into a skating park for the winter. It is to be hoped that this alone will prevent our young people from taking so many chances upon thin ice. Every winter there is a number of lives lost as a result of boys and sometimes girls also, venturing upon thin ice on the rivers and canals. The acquisition of a skating park where there will be no danger, even if the ice does break, should be heralded with delight by the young people of this city. It will afford an opportunity for safe and healthful exercise during the cold weather, and exercise that has a peculiar fascination for our young people.

It may be remembered that a number of years ago we had what was known as a toboggan slide on Fort Hill park, and one at Pawtucketville, near the Bartlett school. These attractions were very popular while they lasted, but they could not be maintained every winter without considerable expense and inconvenience. Then too, there was great danger of serious accidents in connection with these toboggan slides, and the city could not conduct them without incurring liability for damages in case of accident.

No such responsibility will exist on the Shedd skating park, as the water will not be deep enough to cause drownings even to the most reckless. There will be much curiosity as to how the skating park will be used for the first season. It is to be hoped that the park department will succeed in having everything in readiness so as to make the undertaking a complete success. Nobody in the city is more interested in the scheme than is Mr. F. B. Shedd, who donated this magnificent park to the city. For his sake alone everybody will hope that the new ice park will be large enough to meet all demands, and that it will be highly enjoyed by the young people of the city.

SEEN AND HEARD

When you find yourself, as I dare say, you sometimes do, overpowered as it were by melancholy, the best way is to go out and do something kind to somebody or other.—John Keble.

"Hope, child, tomorrow hope, and then again to-morrow. And then to-morrow still! Trust in a future day. Hope, and each morn the skies new light from dawn shall borrow."

We are very apt to measure ourselves by our aspiration instead of by our performance. But in truth, the conduct of our lives is only the proof of the sincerity of our hearts.—George Eliot.

SONG OF THE IRONWORKER.

Well, gentlemen—well gentlemen—in your frowzy, drowsy clubs, Take note o' me an' Bill McGhee, an' twenty other dubs Who're stuck agin the sky line, like flies agin a wall—

"Ho, give us a job to fix the moon; to tinker the golden stair! Give us a chance to see us prance along a path o' air! We'll hang for hours by our teeth to the flowers that grow in the turquoise bed, An' rise sene through the silver rain for the tears that the angels shed!"

Aye, gentlemen—high gentlemen—in your frowzy, drowsy clubs, Take note o' me an' Bill McGhee an' twenty other dubs (The half o' them are come-ons, an' the other half's a suream)— But watch 'em as they sift between the banks of rising steam! Toward the clouds, above the crowds, above the dinky town— They follow the flight o' the shafts o' light that God himself sends down!

Ho, gentlemen—so, gentl men—at your hasty, wasteful ease, Get on to us an' hear us cuss, an' watch us as we squeeze The girders into decent shape, an' see the graceful way We swing like toy balloons to meet the comin' o' the day! Toward the sky we climb so high; through vacant space we grope— We're anchored there by earnest prayer, with God our chiefest hope!

"So give us a chance to paint the clouds, or prop the fallin' stars; Give us a crack at the milky track, or a job to rivet Mars, We'll can the thunder an' make Jove and his bolts— who's stealin' his lightning bolts— An' step up to Venus, who'll say that she's seen us when we hand her a couple o' joists!" —Alfred Dames Runyon, in Mobile Register.

HOW TO KEEP THE HEAD CLEAN

Frequent washing with a shampoo composed of pure soap, coconut oil, glycerin, white of eggs and salicylic acid imparts a feeling of cleanliness and invigoration that is hard to describe. This opens up the pores leading to the hair roots, removes dandruff and scales, and puts the scalp in such a healthy condition that the loss of hair is naturally stopped. Birt's Head Wash is made of the above ingredients. It contains no free alkali, as is the case with some soaps and shampoos. It is not a hair oil, which is one of the principal causes of many so-called hair remedies. Free alkali is deadly in its effects, and alcohol turns the hair gray. Be on the safe side. Use Birt's Head Wash. The full formula is printed plainly on every tube. At drug and dept. stores, 25c and 50c.

PANAMA CANAL

Annual Report of the Commission

WASHINGTON, November 22.—

Summarized in a phrase "satisfactory progress all along the Panama Canal zone," is the gist of the annual report of the isthmian canal commission, made to Secretary of War Dickinson by Col. George Goethals, chairman of the commission and chief engineer in charge of the work on the canal, and made public today by the former.

With the work of excavation and of construction progressing favorably at all points along the line, with health conditions better than ever before, with a centralization and consequent economy in certain parts of the work and with a maximum of laborers since the United States began to dig the canal, Col. Goethals' report was decidedly pleasing to Secretary Dickinson.

The chief engineer reports, however, that it was not all smooth sailing during the past year, slides, breaks and floods hindering the work to a certain extent. It mentions four slides, covering respectively 47, 7.3, 4.6 and 1.7 acres and requiring during the year the removal of more than a million cubic yards of material. "It was expected," he says, "that slides would occur, and in the estimates provision was made for them, but it now appears from cracks that show in the upper surface adjacent to the faces of the cut, that sufficient allowance had not been made, and the estimates were corrected to meet the new conditions."

Three bad breaks, big reports, occurred during the year, one at the town of Culebra covering an area of more than ten acres and requiring a removal of more than a million cubic yards of dirt and stone. The second largest break covered an area of more than eleven acres and required a removal of more than 800,000 cubic yards, while the third break aggregated about 40,000 cubic yards.

"The floods seriously interfered with the progress of the work," says Col. Goethals, referring in particular to that of the central division and the Culebra cut, "and the one of December 29 overflowed the dike separating the cut from the Chagres river, cutting a channel through it about 200 feet long and 21 feet deep."

The total amount of material removed from slides and breaks in the central division of the canal during the year was more than two and a half million cubic yards, or about fifteen per cent of the amount removed during the year from the Culebra cut, the principal part of the central division.

More than 36,500,000 cubic yards of material were removed from all parts of the canal during the year, of which almost 15,000,000 were from the Culebra cut and almost 10,000,000 from the Chagres section. About 35,000,000 cubic yards remain to be removed from the Culebra cut before this section of the canal is completed.

Reports from various points along the line show that the cost of excavation varied from twenty-four cents per cubic yard at one place to as high as $2.51 at another. There is no such divergence of price in the cost per cubic yard of concrete, the lowest average being $6.09 and the highest $8.60. More than 700,000 cubic yards of concrete were laid during the year.

Economy has been sought by the commission in many directions. "To reduce to a minimum delays on account of breakdown of machinery, plant and equipment, which reflect largely in the unit cost of work," says Col. Goethals, "and to provide proper facilities for overhauling plant and equipment, as well as manufacturing necessary repair parts, large shops have been provided at certain points on the isthmus in which are employed a total of 4331 men."

"In general," he adds, "the repair shops and equipment on the isthmus are adequate to meet all requirements during the construction period. Nothing as yet has been done toward permanent shop facilities which will be needed after completion of the canal.

During the year special attention was given to reducing the cost of maintenance and operation of equipment in the shops, including the standardization of salaries and wages and of material and supplies necessary in construction repair work. In this same connection he reports a centralization of repair work to rolling equipment other than steam shovels in Culebra and Orizaba. "In the division of bookkeeping," the report says, "improvements have been made in the classification of expenditures and the compilation of statistics. A distribution of the accumulated unit charges, formerly carried as one item, was made through the accounts now shown in the expenditure accounts by divisions and by units of the work."

There was a steady increase from the beginning of the past fiscal year in the number of employees on the canal zone, until on March 30, last, the force numbered 23,433, the largest force on record. This included those employed on the Panama railroad. The total force at the end of the year was 25,578, as compared with 23,493 a year earlier.

Investigations carried on during the year indicate, says Col. Goethals, that during ordinary years there will be a considerable surplus of water from Gatun lake, even in the dry season, and that the water supply of the worst known dry season for the last 19 years, namely that of 1898, would be sufficient to maintain through the passages average daily number of three or four times as great as the average number now passing the Suez canal, this after making reasonable deductions for evaporation, leakage, power supply and lockages."

Health conditions on the isthmus are reported to be an improvement over those of the preceding year, and no cases of plague or yellow fever originated on the isthmus during the year. The daily average of sick was 23 out of every thousand employed as against 23.49 during the preceding year; and the total number of deaths among employees was 5481 equivalent to an average of 10.84 per thousand.

AUTO ROAD

BAR HARBOR PEOPLE PLAN A PRIVATE ONE

BAR HARBOR, Me., Nov. 22.—As a means of compensating Bar Harbor's auto war a syndicate of summer residents is engaged in purchasing land for a private automobile road from Trenton to Bar Harbor, to be used only by automobiles. Being constructed entirely by private resources it will not fall within the ban of the prohibitory laws against autos.

Several leaders of the automobile faction and of those interested in keeping them out have been in amicable conference all the fall, and together they have been over the route, mapping it out and buying land.

The law court recently decided that the law was constitutional, and it was expected that there would be an effort this winter, either at the annual town conference or before the legislature, to repeal the restrictions. "This expectation has caused much depression and uncertainty in business circles, many cottagers delaying renting or building till the matter was settled.

The auto fight has been long and bitter, lasting several years, and considerable sums have been spent on both sides.

It is understood that the new road will cost about $50,000 and that at least half this sum has already been contributed, some of the most ardent advocates of exclusion being among the generous donors. Large contributors, it is said, are Edward R. McLean and Gen. Edward Merrill of Washington and George B. Dorr of Boston.

Sufficient land is also being acquired, it is understood, to provide for the possibility of an electric or steam road to Bar Harbor.

PAT FLAHERTY

TO HAVE FRANCHISE IN NEW BASEBALL LEAGUE

Patsy Flaherty for several seasons on the pitching staff of the Boston Nationals, will probably be granted one of the two remaining franchises in the new Union Baseball association, which is to have teams in Salt Lake, Butte, Great Falls, Helena and Orizaba. Ducky Holmes, manager last year of the Toledo club, and Dan McGinn, formerly with Brooklyn Nationals, are also in the field for franchises.

It is understood that several major league magnates are interested in the league, including Barney Dreyfus, who has placed in charge of the Great Falls club William Neal of Louisville, for several seasons Dreyfus' secretary at Pittsburgh, J. J. McCloskey, last year with the Milwaukee club of the American association, has the Butte franchise.

HOUSE OF LORDS

Propose Half Way Measure to Overcome Deadlock

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The Lords yesterday presented their case to the country in the coming electoral struggle, a case which John M. Redmond, leader of the nationalists, in a speech at Islington last night, characterized as "metaphorically committing suicide as fast as possible."

It is understood that the resolutions which Lord Lansdowne has introduced would introduce Wednesday's resolution in the attitude taken by the Unionist side in the veto conference and the rock on which the conference foundered.

These resolutions are as follows: It is desirable that provision be made for settling differences that may arise between the house of commons and this house as reconstituted, reduced in numbers in accordance with the recent resolutions of this house.

"That as to bills other than money bills, such provisions should be made on the following lines: If a difference arises between the houses in regard to any bill other than a money bill, in two successive sessions and during an interval of not less than one year, and such differences are unable to be adjusted by other means, it shall be settled at a joint sitting composed of the members of the two houses, provided that if the measure relates to a matter of great gravity and has not been adequately submitted to the judgment of the people it shall not be referred to a joint sitting, but submitted for decision to the electors by a referendum."

Provision for Money Bills
"That as to money bills the provision should be on the following lines: The Lords are prepared to forego their constitutional right to reject and amend money bills which are of a purely financial character, provided effectual provision is made against 'tacking' and provided that if any question arises as to whether a bill or any of the provisions thereof are of a purely financial character, that question shall be referred to a joint committee of both houses with the speaker of the house of commons as chairman, and who shall have a casting vote only. If the committee holds that the bill or the provisions questioned are not of a financial character, they shall be dealt with forthwith at a joint sitting of the houses."

The Liberals contend that the adoption of these resolutions would render future Liberal governments as powerless as ever against the house of lords. The present situation appears to be that the house of lords will discuss these resolutions, instead of passing the second reading of the veto bill. The Earl of Crewe introduced the measure for a second reading. The government leader reviewed the controversy between the two houses, which began with the rejection by the upper chamber of the government's educational bill in 1906, and reached an acute stage when the lords threw out the budget in 1909.

He said the veto bill constituted a request by the government that the country restore a reasonable measure of freedom to its chosen representatives.

Lord Lansdowne criticized the bill, but said that it contained points that might have formed the basis of a useful discussion. The plan as submitted was full of dangers. If the upper house had been allowed an opportunity of amending the proposed legislation and of sending the amendments to the house of commons, he would have advised the opposition to give it a second reading.

Lansdowne Moves Adjournment
Lord Lansdowne moved an adjournment until Wednesday, at which, he said, he would introduce his resolutions. The motion was adopted without division.

In speaking against the bill, Lansdowne said that under its provisions, measures, nominally of a financial character, but not such in reality, could be forced through without any control by the house of lords, and in other ways the bill endangered the constitution of the country, particularly as regards home rule.

Lord Rosebery supported the motion for an adjournment, saying that the upper house had a right to present its case to the country without being "slandered by the government."

The Earl of Crewe and others of the government's forces protested against delay, the former characterizing the opposition's present activity as a "death bed repentance."

The country is now too busily engaged in preparations for the elections to the expiring parliament, Austen Chamberlain, in a letter published last night, declared that the maximum duty the tariff reformers will propose on foreign wheat will be 2s. per quarter, that colonial wheat shall be duty free and taxed somewhat higher to encourage home raising.

Chancellor Lloyd-George at the east end, London, last night spoke on the American dollar agitation. Since when, he asked, had the British aristocracy started despising dollars? Many of the noble houses, tottering, had their foundations restored by a pile of gold dollars, and, he added, in 20 years $30,000,000 had been paid by the children of Irish peasants across the sea in cruel rack rents to aristocratic Irish landlords. He denounced Rosebery's and Lansdowne's proposals as useless shams.

The motion at which the chancellor spoke was disturbed by outcries, some of whom were ejected.

ATTEMPT TO KILL
Madman Made Attack on Police Officer

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 22.—Almost like a coat of barbed mail was the clothing worn by Henry B. Griswold, a madman when he went out to slay policeman William D. Foye in the fashionable Elmwood district yesterday.

Foye was patrolling in the vicinity of the Dexter street dumping ground by the side of the old Long pond, when his attention was attracted by the strange actions of a wiry and athletic appearing man of middle age, who approached him stealthily.

As soon as the stranger came within speaking distance he made a leap into the air, brandished a keen-edged knife of the butcher variety, and his clothing seemed to gleam all over in the most startling fashion in the bright sunlight.

Officer Foye quickly prepared for his man, but although he escaped the wild thrust of the knife, he fell a victim to the armament of Griswold, which lacerated his face and hands and in so injured his whole body. The policeman's clothing was also torn to tatters before the battle was checked. But Griswold fought all the way to the seventh police station, and several men were required to subdue him.

His entire suit of clothing, it was found, had been filled with long steel tacks with the sharp ends pointing outward. There were 117 of them in all, and Griswold had spent the whole of Sunday inserting them in his clothing. The tacks were even fixed into the collar of the coat and his white linen collar as well.

Griswold had been suffering from a delusion that a plain clothes man was to take him back to Butler insane asylum from which he was released recently.

GRAHAME - WHITE

In His Airship Defeated An Auto

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—Miss Eleonora Sears of Boston and Miss Violet Ridgway were passengers of Claude Grahame-White in his Farman biplane in flights made yesterday at the meet of the Aero club of Pennsylvania.

Clifford B. Harmon, the amateur flyer, made his first flights here. Mr. Harmon took up Samuel King, the veteran aviator.

Ideal aviation weather prevailed and aeroplanes were aloft practically the entire afternoon at the grounds at Point Breeze. Besides the flights in which he took the women as passengers, Grahame-White made a trip to League Island in his biplane and defeated an automobile driven by Harvey Ringler in a four-mile race, covering the distance in 7m 46s. The English aviator also made a flight in his Blériot monoplane.

In his first ascent White circled the mile track seven times and then he took four miles against the automobile, winning by half a mile.

In his third flight the English aviator was up a little more than 11 minutes. After circling the course on this trip he flew to the Philadelphia navy yard, a mile away, and then returned to Point Breeze.

In one of Grahame-White's flights a valve of the engine failed to work properly and the engine missed fire several times. White made a sudden landing to find out what was the matter.

SHOT HIS MOTHER

Child Did Not Know Gun Was Loaded

LANCASTER, N. H., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Albert Brooks, who lives on a farm in Lost Nation in the town of Northumberland, died yesterday afternoon as a result of a bullet from a rifle fired by her 7-year-old son. It was one of the most tragic deaths that has occurred in the county for years.

Sunday afternoon one of the boys in the family had returned from hunting in the woods and his younger brother took his rifle, which was supposed to be unloaded, and went through the motions of shooting at his mother.

Suddenly the weapon was discharged and the bullet pierced the left eye of Mrs. Brooks. She was in an almost hopeless condition from the first, and died at 4 o'clock yesterday.

The mother runs a small farm, and works in the mill at Groveton. There are six children left motherless by the shooting.

GOV.-ELECT FOSS

Favors Popular Election of U. S. Senators

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—Two amendments to the federal constitution will form an important part of Gov. Foss' inaugural address. He will recommend the prompt acceptance by Massachusetts of the income tax amendment now awaiting ratification by the state legislature last year declined to give its consent to this change in our organic law. The republicans in their state convention last autumn side-stepped the issue; the democrats favored it. Mr. Foss has always believed in it. He will ask the Massachusetts legislature to fall in with the so-called progressives of the west in support of this measure.

Mr. Foss will also recommend in his inaugural that Massachusetts do its part toward bringing about an amendment to the constitution to provide for the popular election of United States senators. Other states have adopted resolutions calling on congress to prepare for submission to the states such a change in our organic law. He will ask Massachusetts to do the same thing. He believes this will be a great winter for forwarding this move, not only here but in other states. He thinks that the complications over the Lodge succession show the desirability of a popular election. Mr. Foss' view is that had the people been electing a senator on Nov. 8th the democratic candidate for that office would have been successful, just as was its gubernatorial candidate.

A state-wide agitation, through public meetings in all the centres, designed to prevent Mr. Lodge's return now is another of the plans of the governor-elect, following the broadside yesterday morning. He is likely to refer to this in his inaugural address as a means of accomplishing the results of the intended popularization of the machinery of senatorial elections.

CARDIFF, Wales, Nov. 22.—The disorders from the strike by the Welsh collieries in the Rhondda valley are becoming serious. The rioters have attacked the houses of the mine officials, held up and searched trains, storming the signal boxes and keeping the signal men prisoners while this was going on, and threatening to commit other outrages.

LABOR RESOLVES

Adopted By A. F. of L. at St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 22.—The American Federation of Labor yesterday declined to adopt a resolution favoring centralizing in its office the power to call general strikes in given places. President Gompers led the opposition to the resolution, which was introduced by Delegate A. Abrahams of the Central Federated union of Greater New York. He said the local affairs should be left to the international union, which governed the locals affected.

Another resolution, unanimously adopted, rebuked railroad employees who petitioned the interstate commerce commission to permit railroads to increase their freight rates. The resolution states that if the railroads would squeeze the water out of their pockets, they would not need higher rates to increase their revenue.

ATTACK DEPUTY

Bottles and Stones Are Thrown at Him

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 22.—Deputy Doughty of the state enforcement commission was set upon by a crowd in a place on Center street, where he was making a raid last night, and was severely cut and bruised before the police rescued him. There are fears he is badly injured. Cries of "kill him" resounded while the deputy was flung about by his assailants.

The deputy had a warrant to search No. 95 and found and seized 13 cases of beer. He tried to arrest a man whom he charged with acting as the bartender.

The crowd tried to leave and a crowd of his friends came to his assistance and attempted to take the beer from the deputy.

Deputy Doughty made the best fight he could, but it was against odds. The crowd is estimated at 700, but of course only a small proportion of that number took part in the riot. Bricks and stones were thrown through the window and several men, evidently well acquainted with the place, went into the shop by the back way and set upon the deputy, who was kicked, pounded and hit with bottles.

Deputy Doughty was rescued by the police and taken to the hospital. The electric light wire was cut and the light went on in the darkness. Sgt. Small and several patrolmen came to his assistance and drove the crowd back.

GRANGE MEETING

Program Broken Up By Flunk of Delegates

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 22.—The refusal of Delegates Hampton and Helme to appear and substantiate their accusations charging "incompetent management and extravagant methods in the extension work and the maintenance of the National Grange organization" broke up the program planned by the administration of the National Grange yesterday. The failure of the delegates to present themselves led to their condemnation by resolutions framed by the national executive committee. Service of the papers of condemnation notified them officially that they were "charged with maliciously attacking the head of the farm movement."

The grange, which went into a committee of the whole at yesterday morning's session, continued in that capacity to investigate the charges against Helme and Hampton. No decision was reached when the afternoon convocation closed, and another session was called for last night.

The instant the grange discontinued as a committee, the executive committee of Maine, Michigan, Washington, Pennsylvania and Oregon, five of the largest state granges, will step in with their accusations, which include those made by Helme, Hampton and others. It is said they will demand an explanation from the administration.

After a session, which lasted until midnight, a committee consisting of State Masters Ackerman, Jones, Gardner, Blank and Healey, appointed from the whole, as a committee of the whole, reported back to the main committee that they had found Delegates Helme and Hampton "guilty of false and malicious statements against the present administration of the National Grange."

The committee adopted its findings and will recommend to the grange today that Helme and Hampton be expelled from the sixth degree and barred from further participation in the affairs of the convention.

Repeated disavowals by him did not seem to convince the central government that he was not covertly setting the disaffection. He was dispatched to Europe, ostensibly on a military mission, and has not returned as yet.

Almost at once, the same element which recognized Reyes as their standard bearer, turned to Francisco I. Madero and nominated him for president of the republic in opposition to the incumbent, Porfirio Diaz, in the elections held last spring.

Madero and his supporters said that there were not granted fair treatment in the campaign. Madero was imprisoned on the charge of conspiring with the government by his statement that he could not get justice in the courts. He was held in prison until several weeks after election day, when the existing government was overwhelmed by the revolution.

Madero made his way to San Antonio, Tex., disguised as a peon. He was met by four companions with horses and a guide. They departed in a westerly direction.

It was then said he was going to the family estate in Coahuila, to take personal command of the anti-government forces in the field. No further word has been obtained regarding his movements and it is believed he was in Mexico last night.

Every precaution is taken by American officers to prevent violation of neutrality laws on United States soil. Governor Campbell of Texas is reported to have ordered the entire force of Texas Rangers, the Rio Grande. The commanding officer of Fort Mifflin, Texas, has placed a double guard over the gun racks in each barrack of the four companies of infantry stationed here, as a precaution against theft or seizure by Mexican revolutionists.

Treating The Wrong Disease

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they present alike to themselves and their easy-going or over-busy doctor, separate diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality they are all only symptoms caused by some weakness or derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, keeps up his treatment until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better by reason of the wrong treatment, but probably worse. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system.

It is made of native American medicinal roots without the use of alcohol and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

HEAVY SENTENCES

Dealt to Three Men in Police Court This Morning

Two Sent to Prison for Attempted Larceny—One Got Ten Months for Stabbing a Man

Joseph P. Friel and James Allen, who were arrested last Friday afternoon by Inspectors Martin Maher and John Walsh on suspicion of attempting to steal clothing from the Talbot Clothing Co.'s store and arraigned in police court on Saturday morning on a complaint charging them with attempting to commit larceny, were this morning found guilty, and Friel was sentenced to three months in the Lowell jail, while Allen was given a sentence of six months at the house of correction in Cambridge.

According to the testimony offered last week the pair entered the clothing store, and while the younger man, Friel, was trying on clothes, Allen attempted to place some clothing in a traveling bag. While the count found that there had been no larceny committed Judge Hadley decided that an attempt had been made by Allen and held that Friel was liable inasmuch as there was a co-operation.

While the testimony was heard Saturday morning the sentence was deferred until this morning in order that the court might have a chance to learn something of the prisoners.

During the course of this morning's session there were two witnesses who appeared in behalf of Friel. In his direct examination he stated that he was a ball player.

Bertha Smith, a mulatto, who conducts a boarding and lodging house in Providence, appeared in court this morning to state that she had known Friel for a year and a half and always knew him to be a good boy. Despite the fact that Friel claimed he belonged in New Jersey, the witness said that he had stopped at her house at 29 Maiden lane, Providence, while he was playing baseball and that he appeared to be honest and had no bad habits.

J. Walter Foye of this city, who played in the Connecticut Association league, testified to knowing Friel and found him to be an honest man and was surprised when he learned that Friel had been arrested. Mr. Foye testified that he played with New London while Friel played shortstop for Norwich.

The court, however, after considering the testimony offered in the case, found the pair guilty. Joseph E. Loughran appeared for the defendants.

Heavy Sentence Imposed

The larceny of a canary bird was the cause of the stabbing affray which occurred in Broughton avenue a week ago Saturday night. It was the old story of you did something to me and I am going to get square with you, and as a result one of the parties is suffering from several knife wounds in the face, while the other man was this morning sentenced to serve ten months in the house of correction at Cambridge.

The case was that of John Kochovis, charged with assault and battery on Wladyslaw Govinski. According to the testimony offered in the case the complainant had the defendant arrested about four months ago for the alleged larceny of a canary bird and since that time there has been a feud between the families and when any of the members of the opposing parties met on the street there was something doing in the line of conversation.

On the night in question there was a controversy between Kochovis and Govinski and the latter thinking that he was suffering an insult pushed the complainant. The complainant then continued on his way—he was going to a nearby saloon—and upon his return Kochovis drew a knife and slashed him over both sides of the face, with the result that Govinski had to be taken to a hospital and many stitches taken in the face.

Kochovis was arraigned before the court shortly after the stabbing affray and the case was continued, but when the time for the hearing of the case was called it was found that he was among the missing. As a result of a fight held in the foreign colony in Manchester, N. H., where knives were used very freely, Kochovis was arrested by the Manchester police and it was later learned that he had been defaulted in this city and subsequently he was sent here.

There were many witnesses in the case, although the defendant did not testify, and after the court had considered the evidence the defendant was committed to the house of correction in Cambridge for a term of ten months.

HARRY G. POLLARD

Chosen Treasurer of the Aero Club

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—Walter Wellman and Mervin Vaniman of the ill-fated dirigible America related their experience in attempting to cross the Atlantic ocean to Burdette by ship, at the annual banquet of the Aero Club of New England last night at the Hotel Somerset. The banquet commemorated the 127th anniversary of the "first ascent of man."

Charles J. Glidden presided at the dinner, in opening which a silent mark-of respect was paid standing to the memory of Ralph Johnstone, Chavez, F. Reils and these other aviators who had become martyrs to the science.

William Carroll III reviewed the ballooning records of the year in New England. He said that there had been 29 ascensions from New England during the year, on which 61 passengers were carried, 136 miles covered and a duration in the air maintained of over 50 hours. The record trip of the year, in which two cups were won, was on May 26, when Leo Stevens and Professor Todd of Amherst college and others went from North Adams to the Province of Quebec, 221 miles.

At the business meeting preceding the banquet the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, H. Helm Clayton of Canton, Mass.; vice presidents, Nathan L. Amster of Boston and L. Walter Flagg of Worcester; secretary, A. R. Shrigley of Boston; treasurer, Harry G. Pollard of Lowell.

JUBILEE MASS

IN HONOR OF ANNIVERSARY OF REV. SISTER McMILLEN

An impressive service was held at St. John's Baptist church, yesterday morning, in honor of the 50th anniversary of the profession of Rev. Sister McMullen, superior of St. Joseph's convent, as a member of the order of Gray Nuns of the Cross. Jubilee high mass was sung at 9 o'clock by Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., provincial of the Oblate order. Clergymen from all of the Oblate houses in the city and Tevksbury were present, the different communities of nuns in this city being also represented, including the Sisters of Charity, the Sisters of the Holy Family and the Sisters of the Assumption and the Dominican Sisters, besides Gray Nuns from the Immaculate Conception parish and St. Joseph's convent. Rev. Fr. Lefebvre delivered the sermon.

The choir sang the messe royale under the direction of Dr. Calise, with Arthur J. Mariel at the organ. At the offertory Miss Rose Anna Vigeant sang "O Salutaris."

CAPTAIN HOBSON

Denounces the Use of Alcohol

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—No more cocktails for luncheon, nor champagne for dinner, for the members of the National Society of Patriotic Women of America. Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson of Merrimack fame talked to the members at their meeting at the Waldorf yesterday afternoon.

One-half of his discourse was a temperance lecture, with astounding figures in battle array and denunciatory eloquence against the demon alcohol. The women listened breathlessly.

Capt. Hobson talked for two hours. Then they were not content. Mrs. Gabrielle Stewart Mulliner proposed that the address be printed and circulated among its members, and the women voted yea as one woman.

The captain was no directing his armed forces (his similes were most of them military) against the audience to which he was speaking.

The Patriotic society, like all other New York women's clubs, is an ebullient organization, and would be horrified to think of taking anything stronger than black coffee, but the few women present who had occasionally looked upon the cocktail cherry when it was red and heard the pop of the champagne cork gazed at each other with expressions of unveiled penitence.

"Alcoholic poison is degenerating the nation," he said. He then gave the statistics gathered by the British government after the Boer war, showing that alcohol was the cause of the soldiers' not measuring up to requirements.

"Alcohol is a fundamental fallacy," he went on. "Alcohol makes the white blood corpuscles drunk, so they cannot

Bright disease germs, and in this they themselves prey upon the gray matter of the brain. Five times as many are killed in one year by alcohol as there have been killed in war in 2500 years. Alcohol is 10,000 times as destructive as war, and not only destructive, but it is degenerating. It is a blight, not only upon the posterity of the drunkard, but of the temperate drinker.

SCENE IN "THE FAMILY."

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"Graustark," that most charming of latter day dramatizations, was the attraction at the Opera House, last evening and it was presented by a capable and well balanced company before a large and appreciative audience. The play is a dramatization of Edgar Allan Poe's celebrated story of that name and all the strong features of the book are brought out in the play while the scenes and characters are most beautifully "dressed."

Miss Irma Lerner, who interpreted the leading role of Yvette, princess of Graustark, is an actress of more than ordinary ability and she interpreted the difficult role in faultless manner. Added to her ability was personal charm, John Willard, as Grenfell Lorry, the adventurous American who falls in love with the Princess, gave Miss Lerner adequate support.

H. W. Smith as Baron Dangloss, the bluff but kindly chief of police of Graustark and devoted servant of the princess, was satisfactory, as was Winfield DeLong as Gabriel, the unworthy suitor for the hand of the princess. His was a strong role and he made the most of it.

Herbert Charles as Prince Lorenz, the drunken rake, had an unpleasant role, but performed excellently. Edward F. Macklin as Harry Anguish, a young American artist, and O. Jefferson as another member of royalty, were both good. There was plenty of comedy in the play to relieve the tense situations.

The cast was as follows:
Grenfell Lorry, a wealthy American, Harry Anguish, his friend, an artist, Edward F. Macklin, Baron Dangloss, minister of police in Graustark, H. W. Smith, Gabriel, Prince of Dawsberg.

Winfield DeLong, Prince of Aphelion, O. Jefferson, Prince Lorenz, his friend, Herbert Charles, "from the Bowery," railroad porter, Cecily J. Bowser, Francois, bellboy at the Hotel Regency, Charles Wilke, Ostrum, in league with Gabriel.

Edward L. Clifford, Dannox, a traitor, Rowland Hurst, Quinnox, Melvin Gutz, Bassos, Yodoss, Robert Gatz, Gaspon, Fred Lester, Countess Yvonne, Yvette's aunt, Rose Campbell, Countess Dagmar, lady in waiting to Yvette, Virginia Downard, Theres, maid to Yvette, Lillian Berry, Isabel, lady in waiting to Yvette, Lillian Berry, Yvette, Princess of Graustark, "Atlas Guggenlocker," Irma Lerner.

"THE FAMILY." The Messrs. Shubert will present at the Opera House tonight, "The Family," an American play by Robert J. Davis. In Boston, where the play had a remarkable run, its simplicity of theme, strongly developed—the sincerity of its appeal, and the admirable manner in which it was acted resulted in the most lavish praise from the critics. For real heart interest and vitality it is said to surpass "Way Down East" and "The Old Homestead."

To keep the family together, and the ties unbroken, is the aim of Mrs. Sneed, the mother, and the manner in which this is accomplished through love, tenderness and forgiveness, is the unravelling of a delightful story true to real life. Theatrical effects are dispensed with and the story of the erring daughter is told truthfully, yet never lacking in interest.

The Sneed family has five members. Mrs. Sneed is not the usual stage mother, but is the patient, toiling and loving woman found in thousands of homes, not only in New England, but in every country and clime. John Sneed, the father, is good-natured, shiftless and a polliwog. Dave Sneed, the son, is a would-be sport. He dresses flashily, uses the latest slang and talks horse racing. He is not a bad sort, however, and when the occasional demands break away from his careless habits and shows himself a man. Both Sneed is a happy-go-lucky school-girl without a care but Madeline, her older sister, has reached that stage where she is bored with village life. When Paul Churchill comes to town as the leader of a minstrel troupe she is captivated by his brass buttons, his ingratiating manner and his worldliness. Churchill has little trouble in inducing Madeline to join him in the city but once there he refuses to marry her. Then it is that the mother's love and forgiveness comes into play and the family is held together.

Although the play is naturally of a serious nature yet there is plenty of laughter and this is clean cut and laughable. The Messrs. Shubert have given the play a very efficient cast with John Westley playing the role of David Sneed, Mabel Bert, Frances Shannon, Sam Edwards, and Thomas Melghan all have important roles.

Lowell Dockstader and his "twentieth century minstrels," now under the management of the Messrs. Shubert, will be the attraction at the Opera House next Monday, Nov. 28, in their latest creation in black face comedy. Associated with Dockstader this season are Carroll Johnson, Eddie Maglor, "Happy" Naudy, Charles Park, Harry A. Ellis, Tom McKenna, Allen Campbell, Johnny Foley and Wm. Smith. Always drawing upon his own ideas to make his minstrels unique, Mr. Dockstader (this year comes forward with a pretentious offering which he calls "The Possum Hunt Club Revue"). As usual there is a unique first part scene and it is proved that when the curtain rises on this year's entertainment it will reveal one of the most brilliant stage pictures ever seen in minstrelsy. It shows the lawn of the club house on the evening of a reception and it is here that the latest songs, jokes and stories are related by the club members. As a fitting climax to this scene Dockstader comes forward as Lew Dobbycock with a budget of up-to-date witticisms. He also starts the story or plot of the entertainment, which is carried through to the final curtain, by partaking of a wonderful beverage called "Louisiana," introduced by Carroll Johnson, and the "band," "Shantichief" with its wonderfully costumed inhabitants. Dockstader makes his escape from this island in an aeroplane, flying out into the auditorium over the heads of the audience. Another feature of this year's minstrelsy, believed to be deserving of special mention in the singing contingent which includes Charles Park, Jerry A. Ellis, Tom McKenna, Allen Campbell and Lewis F. Muir, the latter well known as author and composer of "Barber Shop Chord," "Chilly Billy Bee" and other popular ragtime melodies. The Messrs. Shubert it is said have staged the production along hitherto unknown lines as to massiveness.

"THE FINAL SETTLEMENT." A thoroughly up to the minute drama of American social life, "The Final Settlement" will be the attraction at the Opera House on Thursday, Friday and Saturday with daily matinees. The play is by L. B. Parker, author of many successes, and is considered to be one of the best of his many compositions.

In the play, the hero, an ambitious young workman, rises to be the president of a great iron mill corporation. Then comes his ambition to shine in the social world. To do this he divorces his faithful first wife and marries a beautiful actress, thinking her talent and social graces will open up to him the doors of society. The final settlement between love, ambition, wealth and sentiment forms a startling denouement. It is from this climax that the drama gains its name.

Broad questions are raised by the drama which boils up business and domestic happiness.

A strong company headed by Elizabeth Royall will present the play here. Seats on sale.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The Highland laddie boy, Peter Donald, and his bonnie lassie, Miss Meta Carson, proved to be the centre of attention of the Hathaway theatre yesterday afternoon and evening. They appeared in a sketch entitled "Alex McLean's Dream," which proved to be an excellent singing and dancing comedy of plauds and Highland humor.

Speaking about humor, it is probably one of the funniest pieces that has been presented to the vaudeville public for years.

Mr. Donald takes the part of "Alex McLean," who is returning from a Scotch ball, while Miss Carson portrays the dual role of "Effie Stewart," an old sweetheart, and "Mrs. McLean," the wife of "Alex."

It seems that when "Alex" went to the ball he secured too many Scotch highballs and as he staggered through the streets on his way home to his lassie he had to stand and hold on to a lamp post to keep from falling.

Despite the fact that he was under the weather, he was able to sing in a manner which kept the audience attentive and resulted in subsequent applause.

The feature of the sketch is the fact that Mr. Donald is a Scotchman and not an imitator and he sings the songs of his homeland in a manner which is greatly appreciated. Then again he has songs of his own which are sung in his own inimitable manner, among them being "The Gettin' Up Duff About Mary" and "My Heart Aye Warns me the Tartan."

Both Mr. Donald and Miss Carson appear in the kilts which are appropriate to the sketch, and speaking about the latter she is a dainty little lady who could not fail to please the most exacting audience. She has one of those sweet voices which appeals to a person, and she can shake her feet a wee bit besides.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you," is an old saying, but talking about sayings—well, never mind. It is the laughs that we are thinking of, and when it comes to laughter and other mirth provokers which cause you to hold your sides you will not burst the buttons off your vest and not see that twenty-minute sketch entitled "Fun in a Fire House." The "funny" fire is put on by the Ellis Novelties Co. and is a regular burlesque on the work of firemen responding to an alarm. The men—there are 12 of them—all comedians and acrobats, do all kinds of stunts.

When the curtain is raised there are a fire engine, two horses and a number of men brought to view. The engine is rather shaky, so are the men, but the latter shake their feet as do the two horses, the animals being very clever with their pedal extremities. The fire alarm sounds, but what of that, the men are having a good time and it is a case of pleasure before business and with that motto uppermost in the minds of the firemen they do not act until they conclude their dancing. Then there is a great scramble to hitch the horses and go to the fire.

The scene changes and the firemen arrive at the fire. The building is burning and the inmates of the house are in perilous positions, but the firemen, thanks to their acrobatic abilities, are able to save the inmates, and some of the persons in the building are able to save themselves. The jumping into the life net and stunts done by the firemen when the fire is put out, the fun falls away and laughter is the only

least, as is the work of the horses on the fire engine.

When it comes to a downright vaudeville sketch Eugene Jerg and Edith Hamilton are all to the merry. Their little act is entitled "A Variety of Nonsense," and it is nonsense, but the kind of stuff that is appreciated by the theatregoing public. There is a diversity of singing, dancing and jokes handed out which causes much applause.

The Four Grubvins, three of one and one of the other, are very good when it comes to acrobatic stunts and in consideration. Three of the quartet do straight stunts, while the other shows "off well in the comedy end. The acrobatic feats on the small tables is enough to satisfy the audience without the other part of the act, though don't think for a minute that the other part of the act isn't good, for the four people are very clever.

J. Arthur O'Brien and company present "His Wife's Butler," which is a farce comedy that is rather novel and is produced in much laughter.

Mrs. Delaney and her 12 peaches open the show, and when the little white, snuffy quadrupeds cannot do in the line of stunts is not worth doing.

Princess Miroff gives a novelty singing and dancing act, which is greatly appreciated.

The moving pictures come at the conclusion of the performance.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week.

MISS TERESA MARIDOR
As the Indian Girl.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The bill for the Merrimack Square theatre this week is one "with many attractions." The headliners seem to be Messrs. Komey and Hollis, "college boys," who present an act very funny and full of ridiculous situations. They keep up the laughter during their entire presence on the stage. Their jokes, local hits and stories making the speech clearly of particular interest, while their songs and parodies are such as might be expected from a live college club.

"Wild Flower" is the title of a one-act play presented by Beauvais, Maridor & Co. It is a bright piece of comedy, and well played with a vein of seriousness which makes a fit climax to a love story. An Indian girl is the figure in the sketch, she having been deserted by her army lover, and she goes to New York to find him, and there discovers that he is to marry the daughter of a millionaire.

Miss T. Maridor plays the part of the Indian girl in a very acceptable manner, while William J. Maddern makes an ideal lover; Arthur Beauvais, a well known actor, plays the role of the "old general."

The three Ross Sisters prove to be very clever comedians. They sing a variety of new and interesting songs, which are very entertaining. Tom Bateman as a "father boy" tells a lot of amusing stories and sings a number of comic songs. Towards the close as an encore to his main act he winds up with some original dances.

The moving pictures, as usual, are very fine, and altogether last night the audience was well pleased.

Last week was a very successful one and this week it seems will be equally so, judging from last night's attendance.

In the House of Commons, Although He Had Promised Concessions

The Municipal Caucuses Opened at 11 O'Clock Today

Disagreeable Weather May Keep Many Voters Away From the Polls — No Excitement But a Steady Vote

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—The declaration of Gov.-elect Foss, that he had cancelled all engagements outside the state in order to devote his energies to an aggressive campaign, the statement of Col. William A. Gaston, one of the announced Democratic candidates, that he would confine his efforts to obtaining the United States senatorship, to a personal solicitation of the legislative members and the continued silence of Henry Cabot Lodge in the situation, were the principal developments in the senatorial contest in Massachusetts today.

In his downtown business office Mr. Foss faced a growing pile of letters and telegrams from both within and without the state and his secretaries say that many of them favored his attitude toward Mr. Lodge while a few were bitterly opposed to it. Mr. Foss denied today that he was a candidate for the senatorship, but said that he would support Mr. Lodge if the latter would subscribe to his (Foss's) platform.

Senator W. Murray Crane came down from Dalton for a conference with the senior senator.

From Lowell came the word that Congressman Butler Ames, the republican insurgent candidate, was continuing his campaign against Senator Lodge.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Premier Asquith was assaulted by suffragettes in the precincts of the house of commons today and was saved from rough handling only by the prompt arrival of a strong body of police.

Since the reopening of parliament, delegations of suffragettes have picketed the approach to the lower house so closely that the premier has been obliged to resort to strange devices to circumvent the petitioners.

In addition to this campaign the women members of radical election committees threatened a revolt unless the government recognized their claims prior to the general election.

Premier Asquith before the assault upon him had yielded to the importunities of the suffragettes and in the house of commons today announced that if he was still in power at the next session of parliament, the government would give facilities for the consideration of a women's franchise bill; so framed as to admit of free amendment.

It seems that the premier's promise made in the commons today that if successful in the coming elections the present government would give facilities for the discussion of a suffrage bill in the next parliament instead of placing only inflamed the women, who decided that Mr. Asquith was simply playing with them.

At a meeting at Caxton hall Miss Christabel Pankhurst characterized the minister's statement as wholly unsatisfactory and "nothing more nor less than an insult to the cause." The women she harangued, considered the premier's attitude a declaration of war and they would answer the challenge immediately.

In a Wild Rush

With a rush the ladies emptied the hall and, several hundred strong, started off for Downing street. They encountered Mr. Asquith enroute and before the prime minister realized his predicament he was surrounded by frantic suffragettes. Without any preliminary, Miss Pankhurst, who was led off by jabbing the government leader, at the same time ejaculating, "You tax women as heavily as men, yet women are not represented in parliament."

Called Traitor and Coward

Shrieking police whistles brought patrolmen from all nearby quarters and, as the women struggled among themselves for the privilege of getting at him, the premier was hustled into a taxi. As the car started off at a bound Miss Williams made another attempt to get in another jab and in doing so shoved her fist through the car window. She was pulled away still crying, "Traitor" and "Coward." During the set-to about a hundred women were arrested. The trouble did not end with the retreat of Mr. Asquith. Robbed of their special prey, a big body of women broke through the police barrier and reached Downing street. For a considerable time pandemonium reigned in the vicinity of the ministerial residences and government offices.

Shrieking Women Fought Wildly

Shrieking women, many of them armed with bamboo poles that had been used to support banners but now served as "big sticks," fought like Amazons, desperately attacking the police and clanging and scratching and kicking to such good purpose that the police line was broken and the officers forced to temporarily retire.

Police reinforcements were hurried to the scene and throwing themselves against the fair rioters checked the advance. The women and their male sympathizers were hurled to the ground. In many instances the patrolmen literally dragged the women out of the fighting zone and thus saved them from being trampled and kicked to death.

It was some time before the officers succeeded in clearing Downing street. Premier Asquith also held out the olive branch to the rebellious laborites, promising to introduce legislation with the object of neutralizing the adverse effect of the Osborne judgment, which was that labor unions could not use their funds for the payment of their representatives in parliament.

The unionists declined to participate in a discussion of the emasculated finance bill, from which all controversial clauses like the whiskey and land taxes had been eliminated, until after election and the measure passed its second reading without a division of the house.

This is caucus day and while last night gave indications of a fair day for the voters, disagreeable weather conditions prevailed throughout.

If this were election day, for it has been the belief from time immemorial that the untried democracy cannot be deterred from voting on election day by anything less decisive than death itself, while the republicans "duck" on a bad day.

The polls opened at 11 o'clock and city hall was a busy place all morning the same procedure being in vogue as on election day except that it was gone through after the routine business of city hall had begun, thus giving the municipal building an appearance of unusual confusion.

The regular municipal officers were at their posts and the appearances about the polling places indicated a regular election rather than a caucus.

The different candidates for municipal office in both parties were to be seen at the different polling places, although in comparatively few cases were there checkers and tallies as is witnessed on election day.

Last night report had it that the friends of Royal K. Dexter, republican candidate for mayor, had rallied to his support with 100 automobiles and would get out the stay-at-homes of the republican party. But indications about the polling places today didn't indicate that such was the case. There were autos manned by friends of Mr. Dexter but there was no organized work by checkers such as one would expect in such a case. The republicans, however, appeared to be making a particular effort to get out the vote.

The democratic vote will be large in all probability on account of the active but clean cut contest for purchasing agent. Of course the democratic mayoralty is all in favor of Mayor Meehan unless the jokers go too far in casting votes elsewhere on the assumption that His Honor has a walk-over. There was some talk of this last night downtown but those who talked it were reminded of a few cases in which such action resulted badly and were quickly discouraged.

The polls will close at 8 o'clock and the result should be known before midnight.

BABY SHOW ACCIDENT

Results in Three Suits in Superior Court

Jameson Case Went to Jury This Morning and Was Followed by Three Suits Against the Boston & Northern

The case of Mrs. Kate Jameson vs. Arthur H. Vinal went to the jury shortly after the opening of court this morning, and the next cases in order were those growing out of a rear-end collision of electric cars in Lakeview avenue on Aug. 24, 1908, when two cars loaded with women and children, enroute for the Baby show at Lakeview came together.

The plaintiffs in one case are Nellie Conroy, a passenger on one of the cars, who sues for personal injuries, and her husband, Patrick Conroy, who sues for loss of services, etc.; and in the other the plaintiff is Irene Lawless, a little girl who was with Mrs. Conway on the car. The B. & N. is the defendant. Messrs. Hogan for the plaintiffs, and Trull & Wier for the defendant.

Mrs. Conroy testified that when the crash came, she and the Lawless child, with others, were thrown from their seats, Mrs. Conroy being precipitated into the street. They were taken into Sparks' drug store, where the little girl was attended by Dr. Tighe. Mrs. Conroy felt no serious effects at the time, and went out to Lakeview to tell some women of the accident whose children were on the car. She returned home in a short time and she soon felt severe pains in her back and stomach, and was ill for several weeks.

Verdict of $500

The jury in the case of Jameson vs. Vinal returned a verdict of $500 for the plaintiff.

The case of Conroy vs. Boston & Northern took up the entire session. The case of Moriarty vs. Boston & Maine was settled out of court.

F. W. and S. E. Qua asked for a special assignment in the case of Leach, executrix, vs. Green. This case grows out of the matter of the will of the late George G. Kelley of Dracut. It comes before the court in the form of a bill in equity brought by Messrs. Qua, attorneys for the executrix, to compel the defendant to give up certain papers which, the defendant claims, constitute against the estate. The plaintiff contends that they are not valid claims. J. T. Mason and H. R. Lawrence for defense.

Jury-Waived Session

In the jury-waived session of superior court, before Judge Harris, this morning, the case of Grace Greenwood, a minor, through her father, William C. Greenwood, against John C. Meyer, proprietor of the thread mill in Middlesex street was heard. The plaintiff claims that she was injured while operating a die punching machine that was defective. The defense claims that the machine was not defective and was operated by another girl immediately after the accident and that the plaintiff had been cautioned to keep her motion. In this case John G. Leggat appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Walsh of the firm of Knox & Walsh of Lawrence appeared for the defendant.

At the conclusion of the Greenwood-Meyer case, the case of Laporte vs. Farrell, a dispute over auctioneer's fees, was heard. Thomas Robbins appeared for the plaintiff and William A. Hogan for the defendant.

The uncontested divorce case of Costley vs. Costley was heard by Judge Harris this afternoon. F. S. Harlow appeared for the libellant.

TURKEYS SCARCE

National Bird In Demand at 30 Per

Get your turkey quick, they're scarce.

About all the markets in Lowell tell the same story on turkeys; the supply is smaller than last year and the prices run from 30 to 35 cents per pound.

Chickens are going at 22 to 25 cents per pound and ducks at 25 cents.

On a recent visit to relatives in northern New York, Mr. Claude Garland, the well known produce dealer, became impressed with the fact that the supply of New York turkeys would be scarce and attempted to make a big purchase. He succeeded in securing a limited supply but found it impossible to purchase the number he wanted. He sold his entire consignment before its arrival in this city. The birds arrived Saturday.

At Fairburn's, Putnam's and the other downtown markets The Sun reporter was informed that turkeys are not as plentiful this year as formerly.

JIMMIE GARDNER
Boxes Klaus In Boston Next Tuesday Night

Jimmie Gardner will box Frank Klaus at the Armory club in Boston, next Tuesday and for the past two weeks has been training with Sam Langford, the colored wonder. He will arrive in Lowell today and will complete his training in this city with Joe Thomas and his brothers, Morgan and Billy Gardner.

Those who have watched Jimmy Gardner during the past ten days working out with Sam Langford are confident that there will be a surprise handed to Frank Klaus at the Armory club next Tuesday.

Gardner is in shape, better even than when he stopped the victorious career of Bill McKinnon, and he is eager to show that he can defeat Klaus when he is tight.

Sam Langford, who has been working with Jimmy for over a week, says the wise sports who figure Klaus to win easily will get as big a surprise as they did in the Harvard-Yale game.

Gardner will finish his training at Lowell and will be cheered to victory by many of the local sports who believe he is superior to anyone his weight when he is right.

It will prove a sensational bout, one that should be a "corker" from start to finish.

Tom Flanagan of Cambridge will meet the local favorite, Freddie Maguire, in one of the preliminary bouts. Maguire has entirely recovered from his recent illness and will put up his battle of his career. Flanagan has improved greatly since he boxed Maguire in this city and their bout will be a corker.

BROKE INTO JAIL

Mob Freed Prisoners and Looted Town Shops

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 22.—At Acambaro, state of Guanajuato, last night, 300 men broke into the jail, set free the prisoners, looted the town shops and confiscated all the arms and ammunition. They then went to the municipal offices and took all the funds. They met troops at midnight and in the fight 20 were killed and 80 wounded. The soldiers are now in possession and the revolutionists fled to the mountains.

A big sign has been posted at the international bridge connecting this city with Juarez, Mexico, forbidding any person to pass over between the hours of 12 midnight and 6 a. m. This action was taken at the instance of the Mexican government. Guards are posted to enforce the order.

The revolutionists have evacuated Gomez Palacio, according to information received here. They withdrew peacefully to the hills, leaving the city

OUR STORES CLOSE WEDNESDAY NIGHT AT 6 O'CLOCK

In the hands of the government forces. It is asserted that the revolutionists have gone toward San Pedro de las Colonias, state of Coahuila. The telegraph lines have been repaired and communication opened. The situation on the border here remains unchanged at 5 a. m. No disturbances have taken place in Juarez Street cars from this side of the river will be allowed to cross the line at 5.30 and ordinary traffic will be resumed.

Advised: are this morning are to the effect that two special trains from Mexico City reached Torreon at 4 o'clock, bringing a battalion of infantry and one of cavalry north to Chihuahua. It is stated that these forces will be distributed along the northern frontier wherever needed. The soldiers will reach Chihuahua late today. The trainload to Parral have been from Chihuahua to await news from Parral and to guard against threatened trouble there. It is stated that a battle is expected to take place there at daylight. No advances have been received concerning the situation at Parral this morning. The Mexican government has declared a monopoly on all telegraph lines, both federal and private, according to information received here this morning. It is said that no message can be transmitted except under government censor.

About 500 Mexican laborers who have been employed by the United States railroads are passing through the city daily bound for interior Mexican points. The men have become alarmed over the rumors of revolutionary troubles and are returning to protect their families. Many, it is said, will enlist with the revolutionists.

The last wire has been cut near Gomez Palacio. The train of soldiers which left Chihuahua last night are said to be disembarking at Jimenez, the supposition being that they are awaiting reinforcements coming from the south. No communication can be had with Parral. Torreon was put under martial law at 2 p. m. yesterday. The stores are closed and business is suspended. The electric railroad to Gomez Palacio was stopped and all people were warned to keep indoors.

Soldiers are now out in an attempt to dislodge the revolutionists from the hills surrounding the city. A full company of federal rurales rode into Torre at midnight.

MEXICAN FRONTIER HAS BEEN PLACED UNDER A CLOSE GUARD

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 22.—With practically all lines of communication in the hands of the Mexican government, with the frontier closely guarded and all travel over the international bridge at this point forbidden between the hours of midnight and 6 a. m., knowledge of the situation in Mexico this morning is vague.

From the meagre information which filtered through last night, however, it is known that the situation is critical in the extreme. Serious disorders were reported from points in seven different states, the territory affected spreading in fan shape from a point less than 100 miles northwest of the City of Mexico to the United States border. In addition fighting is reported in Puebla, southeast of the Mexican capital, and in Orizaba, state of Vera Cruz, which lies to the east of the City of Mexico.

Francisco I. Madero, head of the anti-revolutionists in Mexico, is reported to have entered the country at the head of a force numbering approximately 1000 and Mexican troops are moving north to meet him.

Rumor has it that Gen. Bernardo Reyes, the military hero of the country, who was implicated in the uprising two years ago and who has been practically an exile since, has reached Mexico and the report gave tremendous impetus to the revolutionary cause.

United States troops along the Mexican border are under arms, ready to move at a moment's notice and despatches from Washington clearly indicate the uneasiness felt by the federal authorities.

Outbreaks occurred at Durango, Guerrero, and Gomez Palacio in the state of Tlaxcala. Parral in the state of Chihuahua, Torreon and Hernandez in the state of Coahuila, Acambaro in the state of Guanajuato and Orizaba in the state of Vera Cruz. Outbreaks had been previously reported at Zacatecas in the state of Zacatecas and Puebla in the state of Puebla.

The most serious feature of the uprising is the report from Gonzalez, Potosi, that three hundred federal troops went over to the revolutionists taking with them large quantities of arms and ammunition.

Troops are being rushed to all points where disorders are reported and it is practically certain there has been heavy fighting at many places, with much bloodshed.

Early this morning it was reported that the Mexican government had assumed charge of all the telegraph lines within the republic and that no message can be transmitted except under strict government censorship. Every street in Juarez is being patrolled by rurales this morning. Double sentry was on duty over the municipal prison, the federal arms, banks and custom house last night.

The Associated Press correspondent was stopped and questioned every block when he entered the city this morning.

CAPT. PEARSON

Still Confident of Adj't General's Place

The attention of the militia has turned from inspecting the chances of the various candidates for the position of adjutant-general to an examination of officers who are mentioned as likely candidates for the four staff positions in addition to the adjutant-general. Major Ira Vaughn of Salem, Philip S. Sears of Nahant, Talbot Aldrich of Boston and Guy Murchie of Boston. These officers are to be replaced by others who are closer in touch with the governor-elect. While the incoming commander-in-chief cannot select such men to act as his personal aides as he sees fit, he is obliged to select only those who can show military service. This will not be found difficult, for many active and ex-officers of the militia are willing to sacrifice themselves, as are a number of ex-officers of volunteers who would not object to putting on the uniform once more in so peaceful and agreeable a service.

It was said yesterday that Maj. William J. Casey of the 9th infantry was slated for one of the positions, and there was a general agreement among the militia that Major Casey would make an ideal aide. Others talked of Major Leon C. Foss of C company, 1st Corps of Cadets, and Capt. Harry L. Brown, adjutant of the 8th infantry, and a well known hotel man of Boston and New York.

Besides the personal aides there are six aides-de-camp that the law requires shall be detailed from the line of the militia. At least one of these, Capt. Edward L. Logan, A company, 9th infantry, it is believed, will remain with Gov. Foss. The other officers detailed on this duty will, it is thought, be relieved and a fresh detail be made.

Such talk as is being made as to Gov. Foss' selection for adjutant-general now gives a prominent position to Maj.-Gen. William Stopford of Beverly, who was adjutant-general with Gov. Douglas, while another sterling Democrat—Col. Winthrop H. Merrill—is also said to be in the running. Col. Merrill was on the staff of Gov. Douglas as an assistant inspector-general, and has had long service in the M. V. M. The friends of Capt. Pearson of Lowell remain confident, while Col. Lombard is said to be holding a place still in the hearts of his supporters that they claim is duplicated by Gov. Foss. Adj. Gen. Brigham's friends, and they are legion, are giving the governor-elect all the material in the way of endorsements that they can raise, and feel that he is the one logical man for the position. As uniforms have to be ordered and the lucky fellows measured for them long before January, it is very generally said by military men that the suspense will be over on or before Thanksgiving day.

TO FIGHT LODGE

Foss to Conduct a Novel Campaign

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—William A. Gaston, democratic candidate for the United States senate, will hold a conference today with Governor-elect Burleigh N. Foss.

This conference will mark the beginning of one of the most remarkable political campaigns in the history of Massachusetts.

The purpose of the conference is to lay out plans for the conduct of what Governor-elect Foss calls "a pitiless, persistent, publicity campaign" against Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

When Mr. Gaston called Mr. Foss on the telephone yesterday and asked him when he proposed to start the campaign, the latter told him to polish up his automobile and get ready for meetings tonight if he wanted to.

In order to conduct the campaign against Senator Lodge, Mr. Foss will be obliged to give up most of his speaking engagements out of the state. There is no particular political significance in the meeting between the big democratic leader and the newly elected governor, because Mr. Foss is emphatic in his statement that he will not declare for one candidate as against another in the fight against Senator Lodge.

In the unique campaign which he is to inaugurate it is his plan to invite all the candidates against Senator Lodge to speak from the same platform with him. Every candidate is to present his issues straight to the people and, theoretically the people are to communicate their wishes to their representatives in the legislature.

FREIGHT RATES

The Shippers' Hearing Resumed Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The shippers' hearing in the investigation into the suspended advance in freight rates on the eastern trunk lines was resumed at the interstate commerce commission today. About a dozen representatives of the shippers, including Milwaukee and furniture interests at Grand Rapids, Mich., were present to testify. By arrangement with Louis D. Brandeis, for the Atlantic seaboard shippers, the brewery and furniture cases were consolidated and C. J. Furisch, general traffic manager of the Schlitz Brewing Co., was selected to make the stand. He spoke for both the furniture and the brewery interests, their contentions being similar. This arrangement saved considerable time in the hearing, which will continue, as announced by Mr. Brandeis, all this week.

TOMMY LEACH

REPORT THAT HE WILL SUCCEED MANAGER LAKE

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22.—Although not officially confirmed by W. H. Locke himself, it is an open secret here among newspaper men that Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pirates, is looking for an able man to succeed Mr. Locke as secretary of the Pittsburgh baseball club. The only inference that can be drawn from this fact is that Mr. Locke is to become the head of the Boston National league team. It is not that the tender has already been made of the position to Mr. Locke by John P. Harris, who at present controls the Doves' directorate.

A rumor that will not down among baseball men here is, that Locke will like Tommy Leach, the Pirates' crack outfielder, to Boston and make him manager of the Doves to succeed Manager Lake. Leach and Locke have been close friends for many years, and Leach undoubtedly has his eye on a managerial berth for some time. It is known that he would welcome the opportunity. Dreyfuss, it is claimed by those who know, is one of the principal stockholders in the Boston National and is said to have been dissatisfied with the handling of the club's affairs during the past year. Locke and Leach would be the real Dreyfuss men in Boston. This arrangement also fits Mr. Harris perfectly.

It is expected that her act will result in her death.

ROAMS THE WORLD

Girl Died and Man Has Wandered for Twelve Years

CLINTON, Nov. 22.—George Christopher, a bricklayer, who has been employed on the new Armory mill of the Lancaster Mills corporation, and who speaks several languages, has left Clinton to resume a world wandering life that will continue, he says, until he meets death, and where, by what means or how soon that happens, he says he doesn't care.

Twelve years ago next January, according to his story, Mr. Christopher was to be married to the handsomest, bravest and best girl in all Texas. The marriage was to have been on the 21st, but arrangements were complete and the bride-to-be was as happy as could be displaying as fine a collection of wedding gifts as one could wish to see.

On the afternoon of Jan. 19, two days before the wedding, the girl suffered a sudden and acute attack of appendicitis. She was rushed to a hospital in San Antonio, and an operation was performed, but within twelve hours the girl was dead.

From that day Mr. Christopher has been a wanderer. Broken-hearted, he left San Antonio this day his sweetheart was buried and has never returned. In 12 years he has been all over this continent, to his old home in Norway and in parts of South America.

At his trade, according to those who have worked with him, Mr. Christopher is an expert, who can demand the highest pay, and in addition he speaks and writes English, Swedish, Norwegian, Spanish and French, besides having a working knowledge of Russian, Italian and Polish.

Where he is going, Mr. Christopher says he does not know. To Boston first, and then by train, by boat, perhaps by aeroplane, to some new, untried country.

Before leaving Clinton Mr. Christopher told his story for the first time to friends.

"Money? Do you think it is money, boys, that is deciding me to leave so suddenly?" he asked, and went on:

"Why, right this minute I have a chance worth $12 a day to me and I'm turning it down. I'm turning it down because I couldn't agree to stay in one place two years and keep my word."

"I've been in Clinton now some six months and that is the longest I have stayed in one place for almost 12 years in January."

"Yes, a woman is at the bottom of it, but not a trouble-making woman. She was a slip of a girl only 19, with flashing black eyes, like you read about in novels. We were to have been married Jan. 21, 1898. Two days before, even while she was surrounded by wedding finery and surrounded by wedding presents that would delight the heart of any girl she was stricken acutely with appendicitis and in 12 hours she was dead."

"I left Texas right after the funeral and since then have wandered all over the world. I have tried to forget but it isn't easy, and when I can stand it no longer, I move, I travel, I go anywhere, everywhere."

MR. F. B. SHEDD

ADDS TO HIS GIFT OF PARK LAND TO THE CITY

Freeman B. Shedd will make another gift of land to the city together with Shedd park. Mr. Shedd has purchased the corner lot situated at Rogers street and Knapp avenue, opposite the beautiful granite gate to the new park. Mr. Shedd purchased the land in order to prevent the erection of buildings thereon that would not harmonize with the surroundings. Landscape Architect Bowditch, the man who prepared the plans for the park, has prepared plans for developing the additional piece of land and Mr. Shedd will offer it to the city as a gift.

Mr. Shedd also suggests that Knapp avenue which skirts one side of the new park should be put in such condition as would be in keeping with the rest of the surroundings. He says this work should be done by the street department. The avenue at present is in an unimproved condition.

SKIPPER AND WIFE

Were Carried to Watery Grave
by Collision

Sad Tragedy in Which Schooner
Midnight Was Sunk Off Beaver
Harbor

CANSON, N. S., Nov. 22.—Carried down by the stricken craft which had been damaged in a collision, Captain Samuel Whiston of the schooner Midnight and his sea-going wife, were drowned off Beaver Harbor last night in the moment when safety seemed certain. The schooner Lila D. Young, which collided with the Midnight during a heavy snow squall, arrived here yesterday with three members of the Midnight crew, reporting the accident.

The three survivors, Rupert Whiston, brother of the captain, Wm. Power and Harvey Power, said yesterday that at 9 o'clock Sunday night, while a stiff breeze was blowing, with a heavy thick snow squall, the Midnight's lookout saw the lights of a schooner headed midship. The cry of warning which he sounded came too late to avoid collision, and the craft which proved to be the Lila D. Young, Margaret's bay for Canson, with a cargo of ice, struck the little Midnight abreast of the foremast, her bow being for a time rammed in the great hole which was made.

Aboard the Midnight, the first thought of all was for the skipper's wife who was asleep in the cabin. All hands started to her aid, but Captain Whiston had them save themselves. With his brother he went to the cabin.

Mrs. Whiston was brought on deck, thrice clad in the snow squall. Rupert Whiston clambered over the side of the Lila D. Young, prepared to assist Mrs. Whiston to safety. Captain Whiston had just lifted her when the vessel lurched, freeing itself from the Lila D. Young and Mrs. Whiston fell back into her husband's arms on the deck of the foundering Midnight. Before anyone could assist them, their craft sank, carrying the skipper and his wife to a watery grave.

The Lila D. Young, herself badly damaged, cruised about the vicinity for several hours but no trace of the captain and his wife could be found. The Midnight was bound from Prince Edward Island for Halifax.

POLICE OFFICERS ARE TO RECEIVE GIFTS OF TURKEYS

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Turkeys can go to any price the dealers like, the New York policemen won't care. Commissioner Crosey announced yesterday that through the generosity of an unidentified donor, there will be turkeys for all the force from the first inspector down through patrolmen, elevator men, doormen, bed makers, matrons and chauffeurs to the official "boots." Brooklyn, Staten Island and Bronx policemen though, will have to buy their own turkeys or go without.

All told 5300 turkeys will be distributed in Manhattan. The cost to the anonymous donor will be about $10,000 even though he buys wholesale.

CARLISLE

A suit against the town for $500 in behalf of Warren L. Floyd, architect of Lowell, has been entered by F. A. Fisher, of Lowell. Notices of a special town meeting to be held Jan. 28 to consider the matter have been posted. This case has been pending for the last three years, and grew out of the building of the Highland school.

PRESIDENT ELIOT

Will Deliver Address on
Des Moines Charter

The committee of sixty on charter revision held a well attended meeting at the board of trade rooms last evening with William N. Osgood presiding, in the absence of William H. Wilson, the chairman. Two delegates, C. A. Littlefield and Edward Garneau of the central committee of socialist organizations in Lowell, were admitted to the meeting.

Secretary Murphy called attention to the fact that interesting articles in the Des Moines plan could be found in McClure's and Everybody's Magazines. Rev. Charles T. Billings of the committee on publicity made the welcome announcement that ex-President Eliot of Harvard university had consented to come to this city Nov. 30 to speak on the Des Moines charter idea. He indicated that an opportunity would be given to ask questions. The committee immediately voted to engage Associate Eliot and to take steps to insure President Eliot a large audience. The public is invited.

Dr. J. E. Lamoureux reported for the finance committee. He stated that the old civic association, now defunct, left a small amount of money which in the absence of objection would be applied to the current charter movement.

Henry H. Harris of the executive committee reported a list of 200 organizations which will be invited to send representatives to the mass meeting of Nov. 30. He suggested that a list of speakers be prepared.

John W. McEvoy of the drafting committee asked instructions on two questions: 1.—Shall the police power now vested in the police board of Lowell (relative to police) be distinguished from licenses) be transferred to the proposed municipal council, as in the Haverhill charter? 2.—Shall the purchasing agent's department be retained? And, if so, shall it be elected by the people at large, or by a majority vote of the municipal council?

Purchasing Agent Mackenzie was present and he spoke at length in favor of the existing system of purchasing supplies.

After adjournment, the committees held a joint meeting to arrange for the Eliot mass meeting.

CAUSED A PANIC

FIRE IN A RAINCOAT FACTORY
IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—An employee of the Hub Raincoat company at 39 Kingston street stepped on a match at the factory yesterday and a spark set fire to a quantity of rubber cement, which burst into a blaze causing a panic among the 20 or more employees. Most of the workers were women and all rushed to leave the building by a narrow stair. The women swept into the street badly frightened and coughing from the smoke.

An alarm was sounded by Abraham Fiegelman. When the apparatus arrived the flames were bursting from the windows of the top floor and the glass was cracking from the heat in adjoining buildings. Ladders were run up from both sides of the building and after the first streams were playing on the fire it was soon controlled. The damage is estimated at $1000.

WHALE RAMMED

Leviathon Run Down by
Steamboat

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—Officers of the San Jose, in yesterday from Port Limon, Costa Rica, told of an encounter with a big whale when the frigate was off Jamaica. The Leviathon was lying motionless and apparently asleep on the surface of the water when the San Jose, steaming 13 knots, came along. The monster had been sighted by the lookout and passed close and crew lined the rail to get a look at it. To the amazement of everyone on board the

ONE LOWELL MAN

May Have Been Killed in Explosion in Acton

The Lowell police have been called upon to assist in identifying the body of the man who was blown to pieces by an explosion at the plant of the American Powder company at Acton on October 9th. Dr. Henry J. Walcott of Concord, Mass., the medical examiner, is anxious to learn the whereabouts of the relatives of the deceased if he has any.

It is thought that the man belonged in Lowell, but up to the present time there has been no attempt to locate any missing man who might have been an employee of the place.

The man killed was about five feet six inches tall, weighed about 150 pounds; was wearing a brown serge suit, a blue check shirt with red dots, a gray sweater and a purple four-in-hand tie.

From evidence discovered at Acton, it may be a man named Davis, a woodchopper who was in the habit of frequenting the lumber camps in that vicinity. Charles Bonte of this city is sought to identify the body as he is believed to have known Davis. No words of the name has been reported missing although the man has been out of the city for some time.

EDITOR SENTENCED

FINED $1000 AND MUST SERVE SIX MONTHS
ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 22.—F. D. Warren of Glard, Kansas, editor of a paper, "Appeal to Reason," must serve a term of six months in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kansas, and pay a fine of $1000, imposed by a jury in the United States court in Kansas. The sentence of that court was affirmed by an order of the United States circuit court of appeals, filed yesterday.

Warren was accused of sending through the mail envelopes on the outside of which was printed "1000 reward will be paid to any person who kidnaps ex-Gov. Taylor and returns him to the Kentucky authorities."

The indictment charged that the words were defamatory and threatening on the character of William S. Taylor, a former governor of Kentucky.

TUFTS CAPTAIN CHOSEN

MEDFORD, Nov. 22.—Frank W. Merrill, who has played right tackle on the Tufts college football team for the past three years, will captain the team next year. He was elected at a meeting held this evening. Merrill is 22 years of age, a resident of Somerville, and is a member of the junior class.

JACKIE KILLED

VICTIM OF UNITED STATES FLEET
RACE WAR

FALL RIVER, Nov. 22.—A cablegram has been received by Jeffrey B. Sullivan of Bedford street from Clerbourg, France, that Patrick Fitzsimmons of Fall River, a sailor on the U. S. S. Louisiana, was dead as the result of a fight between the white and negro members of the United States fleet's crew. The cablegram came from the captain of the U. S. S. Louisiana of the North European waters. A confirmation of this report has been received from the navy department in Washington.

Fitzsimmons was a son of Michael Fitzsimmons, caretaker at St. Vincent's Orphan Home, and formerly a member of the firm of Finnegan & Fitzsimmons. The victim of the fight was in his 28th year, and had been in the navy between six and seven years. He was in this city last August and spent several days with his father. He was the only son and his father alone survives him.

The body will be brought to this city for burial.

MAN WAS KILLED

H. Doyle Was Trampled
to Death

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—Henry Doyle, 21 years of age, of 104 Fayerweather street, Cambridge, and employed at the University Press, was trampled to death by a runaway team of horses on Willard street, Cambridge, yesterday.

He was on his way back to the office after dinner, when he saw a pair of big bay horses belonging to Atwood & McManus, box manufacturers, of Chelsea, galloping down the street without a driver. Although baulking a four-ton load the frightened animals had bolted a few minutes before and had thrown the driver, Edward Bryson, to the street.

Doyle ran in front of the team, waving his arms, and caught one of the horses by the bridle. Bystanders say that he had reduced the speed of the team greatly and seemed to have them under control when he lost his grip and fell under the horses' hoofs. The team was caught, soon after.

THE BRITISH CRISIS

Premier Asquith announces to the British nation that the parties revert to a state of war. A truce had been agreed upon and a conference committee was appointed for the purpose of reaching a crisis. But after a series of meetings and long and heated discussions it was found impossible to reach a basis of compromise. The lords would not yield to the demand of the liberals and the latter would not budge an inch. There was no alternative but to report a disagreement. The whole question is now to be submitted to the people and unless we are greatly mistaken the British democracy will not brook any dictation from the sole remnant of feudalism represented by the house of lords.

The labor party of England, strange to say, seems to be wavering in its loyalty, but it is quite probable that during the course of the campaign the labor forces will line up with the liberals in favor of removing the one great obstacle to all popular reforms—the veto power of the upper house.

THE LATE COUNT TOLSTOI

It is difficult at present to say what the effect of Tolstoi's works will be on posterity, but his portrayal of Russian misrule has set the people a-thinking and will probably cause them to think more seriously of his graphic descriptions of the more sordid tragedies of life, now that he is dead.

He was a great painter of the realism of life in Russia and so fierce were his exposures of oppression in Russia that his last work was promptly suppressed by the government. He was the advocate of the simple life and even of asceticism, but although he hated oppression he despised war and revolution and hence never sympathized with the movements of the anarchists or terrorists who wanted to overthrow the government by every means in their power, including the bomb and the torch. By a variety of vagaries on religious and other topics in the latter years of his life, he alienated the confidence of many who formerly believed in him and in his works. He has been a great figure in the literary world for many years and nobody regrets the oddities by which he cut himself off from the Greek church and Russian society more than the czar.

FOSS—VERSUS LODGE

Governor-elect Foss does not intend to let Senator Lodge be re-elected if he can prevent it. Foss believes that his own election was a protest against the high handed policies of the republican party represented by Senator Lodge. Mr. Foss now announces that he will make a statewide campaign against Mr. Lodge if the latter does not withdraw. But that will not cause the senator to withdraw any more than did the letter of Congressman Ames, making the same request before the state election.

Mr. Foss has been in conflict with Senator Lodge for some years past. It is not long since Mr. Lodge ordered Foss to get out of the republican party and into the democratic. Foss took his advice, and now as democratic governor he will have a word to say about the re-election of Senator Lodge. It will not do to assume the role of boss in this matter, for public sentiment seems to be set against bosses of all parties just at the present time. But any reasonable plea made by Mr. Foss against the political work and influence of the senator will have its effect.

Hon. John L. Bates and others are mentioned for the place. It would be well to make a change and to select an able man, one who if not distinguished as a scholar will at least serve the interests of his state and never descend to the level of a political sandbagger who can be relied upon to sink his convictions of right and fight for republican and trust measures no matter how damaging to the people. Yet that has been the role played by this scholar in politics for years. Had Senator Lodge proved himself a man of principle like Senator Hoar, a man who would scorn to do wrong, he might have been president of the United States, because he is undoubtedly an able and a brilliant man. But scholarship and brilliancy count for nothing when not governed by right principles.

THE SHEDD SKATING PARK

It is somewhat encouraging with the approach of winter to realize that we are to have a large portion of the Shedd park flooded and turned into a skating park for the winter. It is to be hoped that this alone will prevent our young people from taking so many chances upon thin ice. Every winter there is a number of lives lost as a result of boys and sometimes girls also, venturing upon thin ice on the rivers and canals. The acquisition of a skating park where there will be no danger, even if the ice does break, should be heralded with delight by the young people of this city. It will afford an opportunity for safe and healthful exercise during the cold weather, and exercise that has a peculiar fascination for our young people.

It may be remembered that a number of years ago we had what was known as a toboggan slide on Fort Hill park, and one at Pawtucketville, near the Bartlett school. These attractions were very popular while they lasted, but they could not be maintained every winter without considerable expense and inconvenience. Then too, there was great danger of serious accidents in connection with these toboggan slides, and the city could not conduct them without incurring liability for damages in case of accident.

No such responsibility will exist on the Shedd skating park, as the water will not be deep enough to cause drownings even to the most reckless. There will be much curiosity as to how the skating park will be used for the first season. It is to be hoped that the park department will succeed in having everything in readiness so as to make the undertaking a complete success. Nobody in the city is more interested in the scheme than is Mr. F. B. Shedd, who donated this magnificent park to the city. For his sake alone everybody will hope that the new ice park will be large enough to meet all demands, and that it will be highly enjoyed by the young people of the city.

SEEN AND HEARD

When you find yourself, as I dare say you sometimes do, overpowered as it were by melancholy, the best way is to go out and do something kind to somebody or other.—John Keble.

"Hope, child, tomorrow hope, and then again to-morrow. Trust in a future day. Hope and wait, morn-the skies new light from dawn shall borrow."

We are very apt to measure ourselves by our aspiration instead of by our performance. But in truth, the conduct of our lives is only the proof of the sincerity of our hearts.—George Eliot.

SONG OF THE IRONWORKER.

Well, gentlemen—well gentlemen—in your frowzy drowsy clubs, Take note o' me an' Bill McGhee, an' twenty other dubs Who're stuck agin the sky line, like flies agin a wall. Ho, think o' me an' Bill McGhee, an' watch us crawl Around the bars, between the stars an' up the shafts o' day; You hear the gang when the hammers clang an' the bulgines hoist away!

"Ho, give us a job to fix the moon; to thank the golden stair! Give us a chance an' see us prance along a path o' air! We'll hang for hours by our teeth to the flowers that grow in the turquoise bed, An' ride seise through the silver rain for the tears that the angels shed!"

Aye, gentlemen—high gentlemen—in your frowzy, drowsy clubs, Take note o' me an' Bill McGhee, an' twenty other dubs (The half o' them are come-ons, an' the other half's a scream)— But watch 'em as they sift between the banks o' rising steam! Toward the clouds, above the crowds, above the dinky town— They follow the flight o' the shafts o' light that God himself sends down!

Ho, gentlemen—so, gent'l men—at your hasty, wasteful ease, Get on to us an' hear us cuss, an' watch us as we squeeze The girder into decent shape, an' see the graceful way We swing like toy balloons to meet the comin' o' the day! Toward the sky we climb so high; through vacant space we grope— We're anchored there by earnest prayer, with God our chiefest hope!

"So, give us a chance to paint the clouds, or prop the fallin' stars; Give us a crack at the milky track, or a job to rival Mars, We'll can the thunder an' make Jove wonder who's stealin' his lightning bolts— An' stick up to Venus, who'll say that she's seen us when we hand her a couple o' jolts!"

—Alfred Damon Runyon, in Mobile Register.

HOW TO KEEP THE HEAD CLEAN

Frequent washing with a shampoo composed of pure soap, coconut oil, glycerin, white of eggs and salicylic acid imparts a feeling of cleanliness and invigoration that is hard to describe. This opens up the pores leading to the hair roots, removes dandruff and scales, and puts the scalp in such a healthy condition that the loss of hair is naturally stopped. Bile's Head Wash is made of the above ingredients. It contains no free alkali, as is the case with some soaps and shampoos. It contains no alcohol, which is one of the principal ingredients in many so-called hair remedies. Free alkali is really in its effects, and alcohol turns the hair work on the scalp side. Use Bile's Head Wash. The full formula is printed plainly on every tube. At drug and dept. stores, 25c and 50c.

PANAMA CANAL

Annual Report of the Commission

WASHINGTON, November 22.—Summarized in a phrase "satisfactory progress all along the Panama Canal zone, is the gist of the annual report of the Isthmian canal commission, made to Secretary of War Dickinson by Col. George Goethals, chairman of the commission and chief engineer in charge of the work on the canal, and made public today by the former.

With the work of excavation and of construction progressing favorably at all points about the line, with health conditions better than ever before, with a centralization and consequent economy in certain parts of the work and with a maximum of laborers since the United States began to dig the canal, Col. Goethals' report was decidedly ly pleasing to Secretary Dickinson.

The chief engineer reports, however, that it was not all smooth sailing during the past year, slides, breaks and floods hindering the work to a certain extent. He mentions four slides, covering respectively 47, 7.3, 4.6 and 1.7 acres and requiring during the removal of more than a million cubic yards of material. "It was expected," he says, "that slides would occur, and in the estimates provision was made for them, but it now appears from cracks that show in the upper surface adjacent to the faces of the cut, that sufficient allowance had not been made, and the estimates were corrected to meet the new conditions."

Three bad breaks, the reports, occurred during the year, one at the town of Culebra covering an area of more than ten acres and requiring a removal of more than a million of cubic yards of dirt and stone. The second largest break covered an area of more than eleven acres and required a removal of more than 300,000 cubic yards, while the third break aggregated about 40,000 cubic yards.

"The floods seriously interfered with the progress of the work," says Col. Goethals, referring in particular to that of the central division and the Culebra cut, "and the one of December 20 overflowed the dike separating the cut from the Chagres river, cutting a channel through it about 200 feet long and 21 feet deep."

The total amount of material removed from slides and breaks in the central division of the canal during the year was more than two and a half million cubic yards, or about fifteen per cent of the amount removed during the year from the Culebra cut, the principal part of the central division.

More than 36,500,000 cubic yards of material were removed from all parts of the canal during the year of which almost 15,000,000 were from the Culebra cut and almost 10,000,000 from the Chagres section. About 25,000,000 cubic yards remain to be removed from the Culebra cut before this section of the canal is completed.

Reports from various points along the line show that the cost of excavation varied from twenty-four cents per cubic yard at one place to as high as $2.31 at another. There is no such divergence of price in the cost per cubic yard of concrete, the lowest average being $6.09 and the highest $5.60. More than 700,000 cubic yards of concrete were laid during the year.

Economy has been sought by the commission in many directions. "To reduce to a minimum delays on account of breakdown of machinery, plant and equipment, which reflect largely in the unit cost of work," says Col. Goethals, "and to provide proper facilities for overhauling plant and equipment, as well as manufacturing necessary repair parts, large shops have been provided at certain points on the isthmus in which are employed a total of 4391 men."

"In general," he adds, "the repair

shops and equipment on the isthmus are adequate to meet all requirements during the construction period. Nothing as yet has been done toward permanent shop facilities which will be needed after completion of the canal. "During the year special attention was paid to reducing the cost of maintenance and operation of equipment in the shops, including the standardization of salaries and wages and of material and supplies necessary in construction repair work." In this same connection he reports a centralization of repair work to rolling equipment rather than steam shovels in Gorgona shops.

"In the division of bookkeeping," the report says, "improvements have been made in the classification of expenditures and the compilation of statistics. A distribution of the accumulated plant charges, formerly carried as one item, was made into 38,678, the largest force in record. This included those employed on the Panama railroad."

There was a steady increase from the beginning of the past fiscal year in the number of employees on the canal zone—until on March 30 last, they reached a maximum of 38,678, the largest force in record. This included those employed on the Panama railroad.

Investigations carried on during the year indicate, says Col. Goethals, that during ordinary years there will be considerable surplus of water from Gatun lake, even in the dry season, and that the water supply of the worst known dry season for the last 19 years, namely that of 1905, would be sufficient to maintain through the canal an average daily number of passages of three or four times as great as the average number now passing the Suez canal, this after making reasonable deductions for evaporation, leakage, power supply and lockages."

Health conditions on the isthmus are reported to be an improvement over those of the preceding year, and no cases of plague or yellow fever originated on the isthmus during the year. The daily average of sick was 23 out of every thousand employed as against 23.49 during the preceding year; and the total number of deaths among employees was 5481 equivalent to an average of 10.84 per thousand.

AUTO ROAD

BAR HARBOR PEOPLE PLAN A PRIVATE ONE

BAR HARBOR, Me., Nov. 22.—As a means of compensating Bar Harbor's auto war a syndicate of summer residents is engaged in purchasing land for a private automobile road from Trenton to Bar Harbor, to be used only by automobiles being constructed entirely by private resources it will not fall within the ban of the prohibitory laws against autos.

This, it is believed, will settle the whole controversy, as the motorists have no desire to go upon the drives of the island, but only to reach Mt. Desert with their machines.

Several leaders of the automobile faction and of those interested in keeping them out have been in amicable conference all the fall, and together they have been over the route, mapping it out and buying land.

The last court recently decided that the law was constitutional, and it was expected that there would be an effort this winter, either at the annual town meeting or before the legislature, to repeal the restrictions. This expectation has caused much depression and uncertainty in business circles, many cottagers delaying renting or building till the matter was settled.

The auto fight has been long and bitter, lasting several years, and considerable sums have been spent on both sides.

It is understood that the new road will cost about $50,000 and that at least half this sum has already been contributed, some of the most ardent advocates of exclusion being among the generous givers. Large contributors, it is said, are Edward B. McLean and Gen. Edward Morrill of Washington and George B. Foss of Boston.

It is understood that the new road will be an electric or steam road to Bar Harbor.

PAT FLAHERTY

Patsy Flaherty for several seasons on the pitching staff of the Boston Nationals, will probably be granted one of the two remaining franchises in the new Union Baseball association, which is to have teams in Salt Lake, Butte, Great Falls, Helena and Oxnard. Ducky Holmes, manager last year of the Toledo club, and Dan McGinn, formerly with Brooklyn Nationals, are also in the field for franchises.

It is understood that several major league magnates are interested in the league, including Barney Dreyfus, who has placed in charge of the Great Falls club William Neal of Louisville, for several seasons Dreyfus' secretary at Pittsburgh, J. J. McCloskey, last year with the Milwaukee club of the American association, has the Butte franchise.

ALL DRUGGISTS

HOUSE OF LORDS

Propose Half Way Measure to Overcome Deadlock

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The Lords yesterday presented their case to the country in the coming electoral struggle, a case which John B. Redmond, leader of the nationalists, in a speech at Leinster last night, characterized as "metaphorically committing suicide as fast as possible."

It is understood that the resolutions which Lord Lansdowne gave notice he would introduce Wednesday represent the attitude taken by the Unionist side in the veto conference and the rock on which the conference foundered.

These resolutions are as follows: "It is desirable that provision be made for settling differences that may arise between the house of commons and this house as reconstituted, reduced in numbers in accordance with the recent resolutions of this house."

"That as to money bills the provision should be on the following lines: "The Lords are prepared to forego their constitutional right to reject and amend money bills which are of a purely financial character, provided effectual provision is made against 'tacking' and provided that if any question arises as to whether a bill or any of the provisions thereof are of a purely financial character, that question shall be referred to a joint committee of both houses with the speaker of the house of commons as chairman, and who shall have a casting vote only. If the committee holds that the bill or the provisions in question are not of a financial character, they shall be dealt with forthwith at a joint sitting of the houses."

The Liberals contend that the adoption of these resolutions would render future Liberal governments as powerless as ever against the house of lords. The present situation appears to be that the house of lords will discuss these resolutions, instead of passing the second reading of the veto bill.

The Earl of Crewe introduced the measure for a second reading. The government leader reviewed the controversy between the two houses which began with the rejection by the upper chamber of the government's educational bill in 1906, and reached an acute stage when the lords threw out the budget in 1909.

He said the veto bill constituted a request by the government that the country restore a reasonable measure of freedom to its chosen representatives.

Lord Lansdowne criticized the bill, but said that it contained points that might have formed the basis of a useful discussion. The plan submitted was full of danger, but if the upper house had been allowed an opportunity of amending the proposed legislation and of sending the amendments to the house of commons, he would have advised the opposition to give it a second reading.

Lansdowne Moves Adjournment

Lord Lansdowne moved an adjournment until Wednesday, at which, he said, he would introduce his resolutions. This motion was adopted without division.

In speaking against the bill, Lansdowne said that under its provision, measures, nominally of a financial character, but not such in reality, could be forced through without any control by the house of commons, and in other ways the bill endangered the constitution of the country, particularly as regards home rule.

Lord Rosebery supported the motion for an adjournment, saying that the upper house had a right to present its "gagged" by the government.

The Earl of Crewe and others of the government's forces protested against delay, the former characterizing the opposition's present activity as a "pathetic repentance."

The country is now too busily engaged in preparations for the elections to take much interest in the doings of the expiring parliament.

Chamberlain, in a letter published last night, declared that the maximum duty on foreign wheat will be 2s. per quarter, that colony wheat shall be duty free and flour taxed somewhat higher to encourage home milling.

Chancellor Lloyd-George at the east end, London, last night spoke on the American dollar agitation.

Since when, he asked, had the British aristocracy started despising dollars? Many of the noble houses, tottering, had their foundations restored by a pile of American dollars, and he added, in 20 years $30,000,000 had been paid by the children of Irish peasants across the sea in cruel rack rents to aristocratic Irish landlords. He denounced Rosebery's and Lansdowne's reform proposals as useless shams.

The meeting at which the chancellor spoke was disturbed by suffragettes, some of whom were ejected.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 22.—Almost like a coat of barbed wire, the clothing worn by Henry B. Griswold, a man when he went out to slay a policeman Welcome U. Foye in the fashionable Elmwood district yesterday.

Foye was patrolling in the vicinity of the street dumping ground by the side of the old Long pond, when his attention was attracted by the strange actions of a wiry and athletic appearing man of middle age, who approached him stealthily.

As soon as the stranger came within speaking distance he made a leap into the air, brandished a keen-edged knife of the butcher variety, and his clothing seemed to gleam all over in the most startling fashion in the bright sunlight.

Officer Foye quickly prepared for his man, but although he escaped the wild thrust of the knife, he fell a victim to the armament of Griswold, which lacerated his face and hands, and in fact punctured his whole body. The policeman's clothing was also torn in places before the battle was checked.

But Griswold fought all the way to the seventh police station, and several men were required to subdue him.

An entire suit of clothing, it was found, had been worn with long steel tacks with the sharp ends pointing outward. There were 117 of them in all, and Griswold had spent the whole of Sunday inserting them in his clothing. The tacks were even fixed into the collar of the coat and his white linen collar as well.

Griswold had been suffering from a delusion that a plain cloth man was to take him back to Butler insane asylum from which he was released recently.

GRAHAME - WHITE

In His Airship Defeated An Auto

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—Miss Eleanor Sears of Boston and Miss Violet Ridgway were passengers of Claude Grahame-White in his Farman biplane in flight races yesterday at the meet of the Aero club of Pennsylvania.

Clifford B. Harmon, the amateur flyer, made his first flights here. Mr. Harmon took up Samuel King, the vociferous ballplayer.

Ideal aviation weather prevailed and aeroplanes were aloft practically the entire afternoon at the grounds at Point Breeze. Besides the flights in which he took the women as passengers, Grahame-White made a trip to Long Island in his biplane and defeated an automobile driven by Harmon in a four-mile race, covering the distance in 7m 46s.

The English aviator also made a flight in his Blériot monoplane.

In his first ascent White circled the mile track seven times and then he raced four miles against the automobile, winning by half a mile.

In his third flight the English aviator was up a little more than 11 minutes. After circling the course on this trip he flew to the Philadelphia navy yard, a mile away, and then returned to Point Breeze.

In one of Grahame-White's flights a valve of the engine failed to work properly and the engine missed fire several times. White made a sudden landing to find out what was the matter.

SHOT HIS MOTHER

Child Did Not Know Gun Was Loaded

LANCASTER, N. H., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Albert Brooks, who lives on a farm in Lost Nation in the town of Northumberland, died yesterday afternoon as a result of a bullet wound in the head by her 17-year-old son. It was one of the most tragic deaths that has occurred in the county for years.

Sunday afternoon one of the boys in the family had returned from hunting in the woods and his younger brother took his rifle with him. He was supposed to be unloaded and went through the motions of shooting at his mother.

Suddenly the weapon was discharged and the bullet pierced the left eye of Mrs. Brooks. She was in an almost hopeless condition from the first, and died at 3 o'clock yesterday.

Mr. Brooks owns a small farm, and works in the mill at Groveton. There are six children left motherless by the shooting.

GOV.-ELECT FOSS

Favors Popular Election of U. S. Senators

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—Two amendments to the federal constitution will form an important part of Gov. Foss' inaugural address. He will recommend the prompt acceptance by Massachusetts of the income tax amendment now awaiting ratification by the state.

The legislature last year declined to give its consent to this change in our organic law. The republicans in their state convention last autumn side-stepped the issue; the democrats favored it. Mr. Foss has always believed in it. He will ask the Massachusetts legislature to fall in with the so-called progressives of the west in support of this measure.

Mr. Foss will also recommend in his inaugural that Massachusetts do its part toward bringing about an amendment to the constitution to provide for the popular election of United States senators. Other states have adopted resolutions calling on congress to prepare for submission to the states such a change in our organic law. He will ask Massachusetts to do the same thing. He believes this will be a great winter for forwarding this move, not only here but in other states. He thinks that the complications over the Lodge succession show the desirability of a popular election. Mr. Foss' view is that had the people been electing a senator on Nov. 8th the democratic candidate for that office would have been successful, just as was its gubernatorial candidate.

A state-wide agitation, through public meetings in all the centers, designed to prevent Mr. Lodge's return now is another of the plans of the governor-elect, following the broadside yesterday morning. He is likely to refer to this in his inaugural address as a means of accomplishing the results of the intended popularization of the machinery of senatorial elections.

LABOR RESOLVES Treating The Wrong Disease

Adopted By A. F. of L. at St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 22.—The American Federation of Labor yesterday declined to adopt a resolution favoring centralizing in its office the power to call general strikes in eleven places. President Gompers led the opposition to the resolution, which was introduced by Delegate A. Abrahams of the Central Federated union of Greater New York. He said such a move should be left to the International union, which governed the locals affected.

The resolution states that if the railroads would squeeze the water out of their stocks, they would not need higher rates to increase their revenue.

ATTACK DEPUTY

Bottles and Stones Are Thrown at Him

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 22.—Deputy Doughty of the state enforcement commission was set upon by a crowd in a place on Center street, where he was making a raid last night, and was severely cut and bruised before the police rescued him. There are fears he is badly injured. Cries of "kill him" resounded while the deputy was flung about by his assailants.

The deputy had a warrant to search No. 95 and found and seized 12 cases of beer. He tried to arrest a man whom he charged with acting as the bartender.

The man tried to leave and a crowd of his friends came to his assistance and attempted to take the beer from the deputy.

Deputy Doughty made the best fight he could, but it was against odds. The crowd is estimated at 700, but of course only a small proportion of that number took any part in the row.

Bricks and stones were thrown through the window and several men evidently well acquainted with the place, went into the shop by the back way and set upon the deputy, who was kicked, pounded and hit with bottles. Somebody locked the door, the electricity was cut and the fight went on in the darkness.

Sgt. Small and several patrolmen came to his assistance and drove the crowd back.

SITUATION IS SERIOUS

Bloody Riots Reported as Having Occurred in Mexico

LAREDO, Tex., Nov. 22.—The situation in Mexico appears to be serious. For the first time in the fifteen years of operation, the leased wire of The Associated Press from Laredo to Monterey and Mexico City was cut by a night by the Mexican government on the plea of military necessity.

The federal telegraph circuit manager in Nuevo Laredo was ordered to cut off the Laredo office of The Associated Press to prevent information being gleaned from messages moving over the wires. These instructions emanated from the headquarters of the federal telegraphs in Mexico City, where it was explained that the government would require all its telegraphic facilities throughout the night.

Coming as it does after what was officially reported to have been a perfectly tranquil Sunday throughout the greater part of Mexico, broken only by a few insignificant disturbances in the smaller places this action by the government would appear to lend substance to the rumors of bloody riots at Zacatecas, Gomez Palacio and Torreon, the authenticity of which had been in doubt.

These three important cities are situated in a region which has been distracted for years. Gomez Palacio and Torreon are cities of about 15,000 and 25,000 inhabitants respectively, and are four miles apart in the Laguna district of Coahuila.

This territory was the scene of the insurrection in 1908, which was quickly quelled by the federal government. It is said that it is supposed to have resulted in General Hernandez Reyes being sent out of Mexico. General Reyes at that time was governor of the contiguous state of Nuevo Leon. The revolutionists proclaimed him as their leader.

Repeated disavowals by him did not seem to convince the central government that he was not covertly abetting the disaffection. He was dispatched to Europe, ostensibly on a military mission, and has not returned as yet.

Almost at once, the same element that had recognized Reyes as their standard bearer turned to Francisco Madero and nominated him for president of the republic in opposition to the incumbent, Porfirio Diaz, in the elections held last spring.

Madero and his supporters said that they were not granted fair treatment in the campaign. Madero was inaugurated on the charge of insulting the government by his statement that he could not get justice in the courts.

He was held in prison until several weeks after election day, when the existing government was overwhelmingly returned to power.

After that he was released on bail. Madero made his way to San Antonio, Tex., disguised as a peon. At San Antonio he is alleged to have been secretly preparing his partisans for the widespread revolt which was set for Sunday, November 20.

On November 19, Madero slipped out of San Antonio and made his way on a train to Cotulla, Texas, where he was met by a number of companions with horses and a guide. They departed in a westerly direction.

It was then said he was going to the family estate in Coahuila to take personal command of the anti-government forces in the field. No further word has been obtained regarding his movements and it is believed he was in Mexico last night.

Governor Campbell of Texas is reported to have ordered the entire force of Texas Rangers to the Rio Grande. The commanding officer of Fort McIntosh has placed a double guard over the gun racks in each barracks of the four companies of infantry stationed here, as a precaution against theft or seizure by Mexican revolutionists.

TRUNK MYSTERY

Is Appearing to Approach a Solution

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—With the police apparently convinced of the correctness of their theory that the body recently discovered after eight years' concealment in a zinc-lined trunk in a West Side cellar is that of Albert Callier, a young French artist, who was a chum of the missing waiter in the case, William Lewis, it looked today as if the trunk murder mystery were approaching a solution.

Deputy Police Commissioner Flynn expressed himself convinced that his force of detectives were on the right track and believed that he knew the guilty man. He said an arrest might be expected within a day or two. It was in the trunk which bore the name of W. Lewis that the skeletonized body was found. Whether the authorities have a clue as to the whereabouts of Lewis could not be learned, but it was apparent that they believed it would be possible to trace him.

Since discovery of the fact that he disappeared on the day he was to have married Miss Ellen Enright, a trained nurse, whose home is now near Ridgesfield, Conn., the police have found a Mrs. Lucy Cook, who, with her husband, lived for several years prior to 1902 in a Sixty-third street apartment house in which Lewis then had rooms. She recalled that Lewis was frequently visited here by a French artist named Callier and that Lewis and Callier had quarreled and once came to blows. No one seems to have seen Callier of late years.

Miss Enright is quoted as declaring her belief that Lewis is dead. She had caused a prolonged search to be made for her missing fiancé and had not been able to secure the slightest trace of him since his disappearance in January, 1905.

BURR BROTHERS

FORMERLY WERE RESIDENTS OF LEAVENWORTH, KAS.

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Nov. 22.—The Burr brothers, who were arrested in the raid by federal inspectors in their New York offices yesterday, were former residents of this place. Henry Burr, their father, left them a well organized and good paying shoe business at his death. They did not continue its maintenance.

Eugene H. Burr started a men's furnishing store, but kept it only a short time.

STEAMER OVERDUE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—The big coastwise steamer Bear, of the San Francisco-Portland steamship line, carrying 450 passengers, is now more than 24 hours overdue at this port on her southward trip, and the company's offices are being besieged with inquiries. The Bear was scheduled here early Monday morning.

MASSE MAKES DENIAL

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 22.—The Massey-Windup Telephone Co., of which Walter Massey of this city is the organizer and present head, was never controlled by the Continental Co., according to a statement issued by Mr. Massey today. Mr. Massey, however, says that he accepted a directorship in the company upon its liquidation, but at the time he attended on Aug. 12, when he learned the true state of the corporation's affairs, resigned. He never invested any money in the company, having been presented with a block of 100 shares to qualify him as a director. Hammond Spear, of New York, one of the directors of the Continental company, made a contract with Massey to purchase his control of the Massey company, but the contract was never consummated.

MORE TYPHOID

Two More Cases Were Reported Today

Two more cases of typhoid fever and one case of diphtheria were reported at the office of the board of health this forenoon.

Speaking of contagious diseases reminds us that Dr. McCarty, chairman of the board of charities and Dr. Martin, chairman of the board of health, have arranged for a meeting with Mayor McManis this evening for the purpose of discussing the matter of a contagious hospital.

WOMEN'S CLUB

WILL GIVE OVER MANAGEMENT OF NURSING DEPT.

The Middlesex Women's club has given over the management of the district nursing department to the Young Women's Hospital Guild and in the very near future the guild will be known by another name.

The new organization will devote itself entirely to the district nursing and milk station work and the guild will not be a hospital guild any longer. In order to do the larger work it is necessary that the organization should work independently and be non-institutional.

Speaking of the district nursing, a prominent member of the guild said: "While it will be necessary for us as an organization to act independently of the hospital or any other institution we want it distinctly understood that personally we will be just as much interested in the hospital as ever. Our connection with the hospital has been of a very pleasant nature. The trustees have been very kind to us and everything has gone along smoothly. In view of the larger work that has come to us, however, it will be necessary for us to act independently. I do know that we will reorganize but we will have to find a new name for our organization. With the district nursing and milk station we will have a big field and we do not intend to neglect it. The work is gradually becoming more and more interesting."

The transfer of the district nursing to the guild was voted at a business meeting of the Middlesex Women's club held yesterday afternoon. The vote to turn over the work to the new organization was practically unanimous. The Middlesex Women's club was not organized to do philanthropic work.

It was also voted to give to the new district nursing organization the cabinet that has been used in the work, and to ask the new management to permit Miss Walsh to continue the assistance she is giving to the tuberculosis class, which is conducted under the direction of a sub-committee of the sociology department of the club.

SUPREME COURT

SUSTAINED THE EXCEPTIONS ON ALTHAUSE'S APPEAL

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—The Massachusetts supreme court today sustained the exceptions on which are based the appeal of Walter Althaus, a broker, convicted of larceny by means of false pretenses in having disposed of collateral pledged to secure loans. Althaus had appealed from the verdict of the superior court under which he was fined $500.

Althaus made the loans on notes and obtained securities as collateral with right to sell the same. It was alleged that his plan was to defraud the customers but the full bench of the supreme court in its decision handed down today ruled that such action was not a crime and that new legislation will have to be obtained to make it so.

WIRELESS MESSAGES

VALLEJO, Cal., Nov. 22.—An exchange of wireless messages between Key West, Fla., and Norfolk, Va., was picked up yesterday by Operator Benish at the United States government station at the Mare Island navy yard. Every word of a conversation between the two operators on the Atlantic coast was distinctly read. Today an attempt will be made to send a message from the Mare Island station to Key West, a distance of 2889 miles.

It is believed by the experts here that direct communication can be established across the continent.

BIG AVIATION MEET

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—An announcement was made last night that San Francisco will hold an aviation meet early in January. It was stated that nearly all of the prominent aviators will fly here, including Brookings and Hoxsey of the Wright team; Glenn H. Curtiss, Ray and Wilbur of the Curtiss team; Moisant, Audemars, Hamilton and probably De Lesseps will start. The announcement was made through Lieut. Beck, U. S. A., who has been field director of the meeting and secretary of the committee.

CRIPPEN EXECUTION

Will Take Place at 8 O'Clock Tomorrow Morning

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Dr. Crippen will be hanged at 8 a. m. tomorrow. This announcement was made today and with it passed any hope that the condemned man may have had of an 11th hour delay. The gruesome details incident to the office of the executioner have been worked out and the usual caution of British criminal procedure taken to guard against any hitch at the last moment. From the time that his wife, Belle Elmore, the actress, disappeared up to the day of his conviction, public sentiment against Crippen grew stronger, but in his last hours the American is not without sympathy. Ethel Levene, the woman for whom the crown alleged, Crippen murdered his wife, ceased her visits to the prisoner's cell recently and there are others who shake their heads and declare they would never convict a man on circumstantial evidence. From expressions in the papers and from the gossip in the streets it is plain that no other murder case in recent years has taken such a hold on the feelings of all classes.

Miss Levene, at the request of the condemned man, paid a farewell visit to Crippen at the prison this afternoon. During her stay the warders watched the man closely. Crippen slept well last night and this morning at a hearty breakfast.

"TOM" LAWSON

Attempt to Have Him Arrested

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—The arrest on a capias of Thomas W. Lawson, the well known financier of this city, on the allegation that he had disregarded a summons issued by the Massachusetts supreme court was asked for in a bill in equity filed in the supreme court today by counsel for J. A. Day, a broker who is one of the defendants in the series of suits brought by P. August Heinze, the copper mining operator, against several Boston brokers. The hearing of these suits has been in progress before the Roxbury Hall since for more than a year. Mr. Lawson, whose testimony was deposed, was summoned yesterday to appear before the master today but, it is alleged, he failed to put in an appearance and the bill in equity asking for his arrest resulted.

Justice Finley of the supreme court will give a hearing tomorrow on the matter of issuing a capias for the financier's arrest.

FAKE PROMOTERS

General Exodus of Them Expected

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The crusade of Postmaster General Hitchcock against the get-rich-quick concerns is expected today to cause a general exodus of fake promoters from the city. The postmaster general is determined to send to prison this class of promoters, who, he says, have sold to an unsuspecting public about $100,000,000 of worthless stock in the last five years. Postmaster General Hitchcock expressed great satisfaction at the start that has been made and declared that the government will drive from the country every wildcat scheme to separate gullible investors from their money so far as it is possible to do so. Many arrests are expected throughout the country today or within the next few days.

Officials of the Burr Bros. Co., Shelton C. Burr, president, Frank H. Tobey, vice president and Eugene Burr, secretary-treasurer, arrested yesterday, spent the night in the Tombs in default of $10,000 bail each. They will be examined on Monday by United States Commissioner Shields.

Postoffice officials say they are prepared to show that the Burr Bros. sold over $10,000,000 of securities in companies, many of which had gone out of existence. The members of the Burr Co. are said to have cleared over $15,000,000 in these operations.

THE MOSQUITOES

WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR A SMALLPOX SCARE

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—Mosquitoes were responsible for a smallpox scare when the port physician visited the Italian steamer Lazio upon her arrival here yesterday and it was not until today that the physicians were satisfied that the smallpox eruptions were nothing more serious than mosquito bites. On the second day out of Palermo the steamer was surrounded by a huge swarm of giant mosquitoes which attacked the passengers and crew. Some of these animals bred in the bilge of the steamer and throughout the trip across the ocean, growing more and more voracious, occasioned the passengers much annoyance.

THANKSGIVING

FAMILIES PREPARING FOR THE BIG DINNER

Thanksgiving is near at hand and of course at the present time everyone is thinking of where the third of the piece do resistance—of the table is to come from. Those who have the where-what are not worrying, but a great many are, and on some tables there will be roast pork or beef instead of the turkey, goose, duck or chicken.

While there are plenty of the feathered birds hanging in the markets they are so high that the ordinary working man cannot reach them by way of his pocketbook.

There was a chance for the skilful man to secure a good duck for Thanksgiving, however, if it had not been for the police department. Listen now and you shall hear why the ducks were not brought to the forenoon of police receivers. An application from a man, with in substance read that he was to place a bunch of ducks in a pen or enclosure and was to initiate the "Hoopa-la" game, that is to sell the hoops for a nickel apiece and if the wielder of the hoop could throw one of the rings over the neck of the web-footed bird he was to become the owner of the duck.

The board considered the matter and deemed it advisable to refer it to

HARVARD GLEE CLUB

There's a treat in store for the people of this city, on next Tuesday evening, when the combined glee and musical clubs of the Harvard university will visit this city for the purpose of giving a "Harvard Night." The club is brought here through the influence of the Lowell Harvard club, and this city is fortunate in getting the club for the concert, inasmuch as the schedule is prepared far in advance and the committee generally favors the cities of the south and west, because of the fact that the people in the east consider it almost as a "home affair" and do not respond with the patronage that the performance deserves. In compiling the traveling itinerary for this season the promoters only booked a few cities in this state and much influence had to be brought to bear on them for the consideration of this few. Lowell, thanks to the energy of the local graduates will be able to hear the college songs sung with a vim and vigor which can only be wrought by living among college environments and it is hoped that the people will show their appreciation by attending the entertainment. Additional to the concert program which will begin at 8 o'clock there will be general dancing after the entertainment.

Harvard songs old and new will be sung and the yell which has been oft read but seldom heard by many will be given. Everything which tends to show "senior, junior, soph and freshman" feeling which generates through the college in the shape of a song has been placed upon the program.

Many prominent students will be with the club, including Minot and Smith, the football players, Alan Gregg of the Lamson, brother of Rev. James B. Gregg of this city, and S. B. Steele, who led the singing at the Harvard-Yale game.

HEAVY SENTENCES

Dealt to Three Men in Police Court This Morning

Two Sent to Prison for Attempted Larceny—One Got Ten Months for Stabbing a Man

Joseph P. Friel and James Allen, who were arrested last Friday afternoon by Inspectors Martin Maher and John Walsh on suspicion of attempting to steal clothing from the Talbot Clothing Co.'s store, and arraigned in police court on Saturday morning on a complaint charging them with attempting to commit larceny, were this morning found guilty, and Friel was sentenced to three months in the Lowell Jail, while Allen was given a sentence of six months at the house of correction in Cambridge.

According to the testimony offered last week the pair entered the clothing store, and while the younger man, Friel, was trying on clothes, Allen, attempted to place some clothing in a traveling bag. While the court found that there had been no larceny committed Judge Hadley decided that an attempt had been made by Allen and held that Friel was liable inasmuch as there was a co-operation.

While the testimony was heard Saturday morning the sentence was deferred until this morning in order that the court might have a chance to learn something of the prisoners.

During the course of this morning's session there were two witnesses who appeared in behalf of Friel. In his direct examination he stated that he was a ball player.

Bertha Smith, a mulatto, who conducts a boarding and lodging house in Providence, appeared in court this morning to state that she had known Friel for a year and a half and always knew him to be a good boy. Despite the fact that Friel claimed he belonged in New Jersey, the witness said that he had stopped at her house at 23 Maiden lane, Providence, while he was playing baseball and that he appeared to be honest and had no bad habits.

J. Walter Foye of this city, who played in the Connecticut Association league, testified to knowing Friel and found him to be an honest man and was surprised when he learned that Friel had been arrested. Mr. Foye testified that he played with New London while Friel played shortstop for Norwich.

The court, however, after considering the testimony offered in the case, found the pair guilty. Joseph E. Loughran appeared for the defendants. Heavy Sentence Imposed

The larceny of a canary bird was the cause of the stabbing affray which occurred in Kington avenue a week ago Saturday night. It was the old story of you did something to me and I am going to get square with you, and as a result one of the parties is suffering from several knife wounds in the face, while the other man was this morning sentenced to serve ten months in the house of correction at Cambridge.

The case was that of John Kochovis, charged with assault and battery on Wladyslaw Govinski. According to the testimony offered in the case the complainant had the defendant arrested about four months ago for the alleged larceny of a canary bird and since that time there has been a feud between the families and when any of the members of the opposing parties met on the street there was something doing in the line of conversation.

On the night in question there was a controversy between Kochovis and Govinski and the latter thinking that he was suffering an insult pushed the complainant. The complainant then continued on his way—he was going to a nearby saloon to get some of the foamy beverage—and upon his return Kochovis drew a knife and slashed him over both sides of the face, with the result that Govinski had to be taken to a hospital and many stitches taken in the face.

Kochovis was arraigned before the court shortly after the stabbing affray and the case was continued, but when the time for the hearing of the case was called it was found that he was among the missing. As a result of flight held in the foreign colony in Manchester, N. H., where inmates were used very freely, Kochovis was arrested by the Manchester police and it was later learned that he had been defaulted in this city and subsequently he was sent here.

There were many witnesses in the case, although the defendant did not testify, and after the court had considered the evidence the defendant was committed to the house of correction in Cambridge for a term of ten months.

Nelson F. Graham was charged with being drunk and after being found guilty, was ordered to pay a fine of $5.

HARRY G. POLLARD

Chosen Treasurer of the Aero Club

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—Walter Wellman and Manville Vaniman of the ill-fated dirigible America related their experience in attempting to cross the Atlantic ocean to Europe by airship, at the annual banquet of the Aero Club of New England last night at the Hotel Somerset. The banquet commemorated the 127th anniversary of the "first ascent of man."

Charles J. Glidden presided at the dinner, in opening which a silent mark of respect was paid standing to the memory of Ralph Johnstone, Chavez, E. Rollis and those other aviators who had become martyrs to the science.

William Carroll Hill reviewed the ballooning records of the year in New England. He said that there had been 23 ascensions from New England during the year, on which 61 passengers were carried, 1355 miles covered and a duration in the air maintained of over 90 hours. The record trip of the year, in which two cups were won, was on May 20, when Leo Stevens and Professor Todd of Amherst college and others went from North Adams to the Province of Quebec, 321 miles.

At the business meeting preceding the banquet the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, H. Helm Clayton of Canton, Mass.; vice presidents, Nathan L. Amster of Boston and L. Walter Flagg of Worcester; secretary, A. R. Shrigley of Boston; treasurer, Harry G. Pollard of Lowell.

IN HONOR OF ANNIVERSARY OF REV. SISTER McMILLEN

An impressive service was held at St. John's Episcopal church, yesterday morning, in honor of the 50th anniversary of the profession of Rev. Sister McMullen, superior of St. Joseph's convent, as a member of the order of Gray Nuns of the Cross. Jubilee high mass was sung at 9 o'clock by Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., provincial of the Oblate order. Clergymen from all of the Oblate houses in the city and Tewksbury were present, the different communities of nuns in this city being also represented, including the Sisters of Charity, the Sisters of the Holy Family and the Sisters of the Assumption and the Dominican Sisters, besides Gray Nuns from the Immaculate Conception parish and St. Joseph's convent. Rev. Fr. Lefebvre delivered the sermon.

The choir sang the messe royale under the direction of Dr. Caluso, with Arthur J. Martel at the organ. At the offertory Miss Rose Anna Vigeant sang "O Salutaris."

CAPTAIN HOBSON

Denounces the Use of Alcohol

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—No more cocktails for luncheon, nor champagne for dinner, for the members of the National Society of Patriotic Women of America. Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson of Merrimack fame talked to the members at their meeting at the Waldorf yesterday afternoon.

One-half of his discourse was a temperance lecture, with astounding figures in battle array and denunciatory eloquence against the demon alcohol. The women listened breathlessly.

Capt. Hobson talked for two hours. Then they were not content. Mrs. Gabrielle Stewart Mulliner proposed that the address be printed and circulated among its members, and the women voted yes as one woman.

The captain was no directing his armed forces (his smiles were most of them military) against the audience to which he was speaking.

The Patriotic society, like all other New York women's clubs, is an abstemious organization, and would be horrified to think of taking anything stronger than black coffee, but the few women present who had occasionally looked upon the cocktail cherry when it was red, and heard the pop of the champagne cork gazed at each other with expressions of unveiled penitence.

"Alcoholic poison is degenerating the nation," he said. He then gave the statistics gathered by the British government after the Boer war, showing that alcohol was the cause of the soldiers not measuring up to requirements.

"Alcohol is a fundamental fallacy," he went on. "Alcohol makes the white blood corpuscles drunk, so they cannot fight disease germs, and in this they themselves prey upon the gray matter of the brain. Five times as many are killed in one year by alcohol as there have been killed in war in 2300 years. Alcohol is 10,000 times as destructive as war, and not only destructive, but it is degenerating. It is a blight, not only upon the posterity of the drunkard, but of the temperate drinker.

"We have got to stop it (the effect of alcohol) here, or the nation will not survive. The Chinese and Japanese want to come to this country. They are not degenerates. Don't despise the yellow man. The Romans despise the barbarian. Nature will not have a family of degenerates. If we are not careful before our grandchildren have left the scene they will hear the hoof of the yellow man's horse."

INFECTIOUS HOSPITAL

ENDORSE THIS MOVEMENT TO BUILD A CONTAGIOUS HOSPITAL AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

THE VOICE OF PUBLIC OPINION

Charity and Health Boards Want $50,000 for Suitable Building

The sum of $50,000 is wanted for the erection of a contagious hospital in Lowell. That is the amount named by the boards of charity and health.

These two boards held a union meeting last evening and voted to ask the city government for $50,000 for a contagious hospital. This puts the matter squarely up to the city government. The matter of a contagious or infectious hospital has been hanging fire in Lowell for years and the great fear is that an epidemic may get here before the hospital is built.

The conference of the boards of charity and health, held last evening, was the result of a suggestion offered by the chairman of the board of charity, Dr. J. J. McCarty, at a special meeting of his board last Thursday.

Health and Beauty Secrets

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

V. J.: To keep the scalp clean, sweet and healthy it is necessary for many to shampoo once a week regularly. If your hair is inclined to be oily or if you encounter much flying dust, you should shampoo weekly. Shampoos make the hair dry, hard and brittle and cause streaks. Don't use them, no matter how delicately perfumed or attractively colored. You can depend always upon a thorough cleansing of your hair and scalp, removing all dandruff, oil and dust. It makes an abundance of searching yet bland lather. Dissolve a teaspoonful of cantharides in a cup of hot water, pour a little on the head at a time, rub as you would with any shampoo; then rinse well. Your hair will dry quickly and evenly, so that it is easy to do up, and it will be so light, bright and fluffy that it will seem as if you have twice as much as before your shampoo.

Mrs. X.: It is true your husband took you "for better or for worse," but I do not blame him for urging you to do something for your falling hair, for a partly bald woman is about the most unattractive sight I can imagine. You can postpone the "for worse" many years if you will. The hair responds quickly to proper treatment. Use cantharides for shampooing and rub into the scalp and hair roots twice a week a quinine tonic, which you can make at home at little cost as follows: Get from your druggist one ounce of quinine, dissolve it in one-half pint of alcohol, then add one-half pint of water, and shake well. This inexpensive tonic feeds the follicles and gives the hair new strength and life. It prevents dandruff and itching scalp, and keeps the hair clean, soft and silky. Quinine will not change the color of the hair but it will lighten the natural color and give it lustre. It will stop your hair falling out when you get it and will tend to make it grow in thick and long.

Blanche L.: To be sure, you are likely to get fatter during the winter months unless you take proper steps to prevent the accumulation of excess flesh. In fact, you are even now entirely too stout for one of your height. Get from your druggist, store four ounces of paraffin and dissolve it in 1½ pints of hot water. Then take a tablespoonful before each meal. This remedy is harmless and a rapid flesh reducer that will not make it necessary for you to half starve yourself to keep from getting too fat.

L. T.: No person's eyes will remain clear and bright under all conditions. If years are included to become dull, expressionless, red and inflamed when exposed to sun, dust or wind, you can easily remove the trouble by dropping one or two drops of crystal eye tonic in each eye. Make this tonic yourself. Just get an ounce of crystals from your druggist and dissolve it in a pint of warm water. That is all there is to this simple remedy, but it is no doubt that many have been able to dispense with spectacles after using it for a month or two.

R. F.: Red hair is no more disfiguring on a woman's face than hairs of any other color. I think you are too sensitive, but you can easily get rid of that downy growth on your face and forehead if you wish. Get from your druggist one ounce of delatone, make a paste by mixing a little of the powder with a little water, and apply to the surface from which you wish to remove the hair, allow it to remain two or three minutes; then wipe off the paste and wash thoroughly with warm water. This treatment will not injure the skin and can be repeated if the hairs should return. Two or three applications will kill the hair follicles for good. Your druggist will charge you a dollar for one ounce of delatone, but I know of nothing else so good. It certainly is much cheaper and less painful than electrolysis.

Georgia: A very able and skilled physician has originated a prescription which I find unusually beneficial to persons like yourself who are thin and anemic. The prescription is sold by druggists under the name of egg-o-lene compound and costs one dollar per box of 50 tablets, a complete two weeks' treatment. These tablets contain lecithin and ova testis, which are derived from eggs, and never heard of as more satisfactory flesh builders. They will round out your neck, arms and bust as nothing else will, for it helps you to absorb the food, cleanses the circulation of the blood and acts as a tonic for the nerves. Take these tablets two weeks before having your new dress fitted.

Miss Patey: You ask for some complexion beautifier more refined than powder. Try this: Dissolve four ounces of spumax in a half-pint of hot water, add two teaspoonfuls of glycerine, stir well and let stand overnight. Massage with this spumax ointment daily and it will prevent freckles, wrinkles, and soften and whiten the skin, for it carries into the cuticle and pores the glow of health and gives that transparency and satiny feel so much desired. It quickly corrects a gray, coarse skin, effectively braces it and stimulates it to healthy action.

Nancy: You cannot expect to have a smooth, rosy complexion as long as your blood is full of impurities from a damaged liver, which causes those ugly red pimples on your face. What you need is a good, cleansing system tonic that will purify your blood and enable you to cultivate good looks. Get an ounce of hardens from any druggist, dissolve it in one-half pint of alcohol, adding one-half cup sugar, then enough hot water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal and in a short time that good, old-fashioned tonic will clear up your skin of sallowness, give you a good appetite and make you feel better and more energetic. It will really improve your looks a great deal and do you a world of good.

How to Destroy the Dandruff Germ

By a Specialist.

That dandruff germ is responsible for nearly all the hair loss from the scalp is well as for baldness and premature gray hair, is a well-known fact, but when we realize that it is also indirectly responsible for many of the worst cases of catarrh and consumption, we appreciate the importance of any agent that will destroy its power. We of the therefore particularly pleased to give herewith the prescription which an eminent scientist and specialist states he has found, after repeated tests, to completely destroy the dandruff germ in from one to three applications. This prescription can be made up at home, or any chemist will put it up for you. 5 ccs. Bay Rum, 2 ccs. Lavona de Composes, ½ dr. Menthol Crystals. Mix thoroughly, and after standing half an hour, apply by rubbing into the scalp with the finger tips. If you wish it perfumed, add half a teaspoonful of any perfume, which will mix perfectly with the other ingredients. This preparation is not a dye, but is unequalled for promoting the growth of hair to its original color. Be sure to ask the druggist for all the enclosures in the Lavona de Composes package. One of them will send you to a landowner's free sprinkler top for your hair tonic bottle and you are also entitled to receive the free advice of an expert on hair. Simply writing to the address you will find enclosed in the carton.

CAUTION: Do not apply where hair is not desired, and be sure to avoid tonics containing poisonous wood alcohol.

Riker-Jaynes Drug Company, the well known local druggists, have had so many calls for this prescription that they have taken special steps to have it filled promptly for all who call.

It appeared to Dr. McCarty that it was high time something was being done to start the ball rolling.

Mayor Mehan was present at the meeting last evening and assured the members of both boards that he was deeply interested in the matter of a contagious hospital. He advocated it in his inaugural and he said it was one of the crying needs of the city.

Dr. McCarty, chairman of the board of charity, and Dr. Martin, chairman of the board of health, were appointed a committee to prepare a communication to the city government. The two doctors will appear before Mayor Mehan today and will ask the city council to take action in the matter. The council, naturally, will refer the matter to the committee on appropriations, and when it gets to that committee both boards will be on hand to advocate the great necessity for a contagious hospital in Lowell.

Dr. McCarty presided at the conference last evening. He said the object of the meeting was to make an effort to establish a contagious hospital in Lowell. "The necessity for such a hospital," he said, "is admitted and acknowledged. The local demand certainly is admitted and it is with the object in view that we came here tonight and I would like to hear from others and to ascertain what their views are as to the best way to proceed." He asked Dr. Martin if he had anything to say in the matter.

Dr. Martin said he understood that the board of health had been asked to propose and he said he would talk freely on the subject when he would hear the proposition.

"As far as the board of charity is concerned," said Dr. McCarty, "we have recognized the crying need for a hospital and have talked it ever since the first of the year."

"We have tuberculosis cases at the Chelmsford street hospital, and there is a question as to our right to have them there. Meeting as many of the victims of the dread disease as we meet, it seemed to us a splendid undertaking to offer them some place where they might end their days in much peace and comfort as was possible under the circumstances. Not only to protect them but to protect the immediate family and the protection of the public."

"The city farm was intended to be a place for the care of the poor, not for the purpose of farming. The project we had in mind, however, would not interfere with the farm, as there is a lot of uncultivated land there that can be used and we decided to offer the land to the board of health for the purpose of a contagious hospital, and the carrying out of the project is properly the province of the board of health."

"I find that the mayor is perfectly in sympathy with the movement; in fact I have known that all along and first learned it through the medium of the municipal address, and I would say that so far as the board of health is concerned all we have to do is to get the land. Dr. Martin said he would not attempt to speak for the board of health. He allowed the other board members would have opinions of their own to express. He said that the operation of the board of health in the matter was a great source of gratification. "It means another leveler to the board of health can use," he said. "We are helpless unless the city council gives us the money and we have had very poor luck with the city council. The mayor stated very tersely and emphatically in his inaugural address the necessity for a contagious hospital and the board of health voted its commendation of the mayor's statement. The fact remains, however, that we cannot turn a hand over until the city council opens its heart."

"I think that your suggestion to use land owned by the city is an excellent one. There is no use in going out looking for land when the city has land to suit the purpose."

"As far as the board of health goes, at least, it is my sentiment that the present law looking to the prevention of pauperizing patients is all poppycock. It is a stumbling block in the way and should be removed. These advanced cases of tuberculosis, which need public care should be taken care of by the board of health."

I should not object to seeing every such person a public charge and to have him in the Chelmsford street hospital."

"This department (the health department) has been put to its wits' end and what to do should an epidemic of contagious disease break out. It is only good fortune that the city of Lowell hasn't been forced to solve a private residence and convert it at short notice into a pest house for those suffering from contagious disease."

"While your suggestion is well-come I do not meet the pressing need of the health department. We need a place where we can take care of other contagious diseases."

Dr. McCarty said: "At a former meeting I spoke of hospitals for advanced cases of tuberculosis. I believe persons in such an advanced stage should be made happy and given all the comforts of home. Notwithstanding the fact that we have a perfect science, no science can guard such cases. To attempt to cure them is a waste of time, discreditable to the patients themselves and not exciting to their friends. Such cases

ASK INJUNCTION AGAINST STRIKERS IN THE COAL FIELDS

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 22.—The Northern Coal & Coke company yesterday filed a petition in the district court here asking for an order restraining strikers in the Northern coal fields from the interfering with the peaceful operation of the coal mines at Lafayette, Louisville, Superior and Marshall. A strike has been on in that section since April 1st. Officers of district number 15, United Mineworkers of America, officials of the local union and 75 other persons are named as defendants. The petition alleges that it has found it useless to appeal to town or county officials to maintain order.

SUIT FOR $200,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Judge Hazel in the United States district court today handed down a decision vacating a writ of attachment upon which the government recently seized the stock in this city of Joseph Brooks & Co., an English woolen manufacturing firm, and importers of woolen goods.

The government has a suit against the firm for $200,000, alleging under valuation frauds.

GREAT THROGS

ARRIVE AT ZASEIKA TO ATTEND TOLSTOI'S FUNERAL

TULA, Russia, Nov. 22.—Throughout the night and during the early hours of today special trains arrived at Zaseika, the railway station near Yasnaya Polyana, bearing delegations to the funeral of Count Leo Tolstoy. Students from Moscow occupied twenty-three coaches.

Following Tolstoy's written request his grave has been made under Poverty oak in the spot "where in childhood he buried a green rockinghorse." This reference was to an episode in the boyhood days of Tolstoy and his brothers, who with childish rites consigned to the earth a hobby-horse in the belief that when it was disinterred a reign of happiness would be inaugurated.

The novelist often referred to the disposition of his body in directions that so far as the burial of the corpse is concerned all that should be "of the simplest, without the rites of the Orthodox church."

THE HORSE'S LEG

First Enlargement is the Well Known Splint

The first and most common enlargements to be seen on the legs of the horse is the well known splint which is found on the cannon bone, between the knee and the ankle on the forelegs. They may be looked for on the inside of the leg from the knee down to two-thirds the length of the cannon bone, ranging in size from a walnut down to a pea. They may be felt by the hand when not visible to the eye. However, in locating the splint do not mistake development of the small cannon bone which shows itself at about the lower third of the cannon bone. While generally the splint is on the inside, it is sometimes found on the outside and while more frequently the fore legs are affected, they are found on the hind legs, usually the splint forms but a single bony growth and in itself does not always produce lameness, but the splint may assume more important dimensions running from one side to the other of the bone, implicating the suspensory ligament, when it becomes a permanent injury and lameness. The lameness from a splint is peculiar not always continuous, rather intermittent, more noticeable while the horse is warm than when cool. When the splint is located at or near the knee, work aggravates the trouble, the knee is swung outward from the knee downward, a swelling, heat and tenderness will be present particularly if examination is made while the horse is still warm from action.

The splint results more frequently from injury or blow, but straining the young animal may be caused by a corn on the sole of the foot. The bones forming the cannon are in the young colt more or less articulated and become firmly joined by a rigid union in the matured horse, hence the liability of "throwing up a splint" in the colt when put to hard work or overstrained. The splint in itself is not always a source of lameness. Many horses have one or more splints and are used for years with no trouble and without going lame, but further or acute attacks may always be looked for and then the splint becomes an object commanding more attention. The application of water, hot or cold, and some strapping with cold water bandages, are a first resort. When not effective, daily painting with tincture of iodine or certain liniments of the right construction may be tried. In other or extreme cases a good absorbent applied two or three times at intervals of a week or two. Of course, proper attention to diet and rest is important.

SCENE IN "THE FAMILY."

"Graustark" that most charming of latter day dramatizations, was the attraction at the Opera House, last evening and it was presented by a capable and well balanced company before a large and appreciative audience. The play is a dramatization of George Barr McCutcheon's celebrated story of that name and all the strong features of the book are brought out in the play while the scenes and characters are most beautifully "dressed."

Miss Irma Lerner, who interpreted the leading role of Yette, princess of Graustark, is an actress of more than ordinary ability and she interpreted the difficult role in faultless manner. Added to her ability was personal charm. John Willard, as Grenfell Lorry, the adventurous American who falls in love with the Princess, gave Miss Lerner adequate support.

H. W. Smith as Baron Dangloss, the bluff but kindly chief of police of Graustark and devoted servant of the princess, was satisfactory, as was Winfield DeLong as Gabriel, the unprincipled, his was a strong role and he made the most of it.

Herbert Charles as Prince Lorenz, the drunken rake, had an unpleasant role, but performed excellently. Edward F. Macklyn as Harry Anguish, a young American artist, and O. Jefferson as another member of royalty, were both good. There was plenty of comedy in the play to relieve the tense situations also.

The cast was as follows:

Grenfell Lorry, a wealthy American, John Willard
Harry Anguish, his friend, an artist, Edward F. Macklyn
Baron Dangloss, minister of police in Graustark, H. W. Smith
Gabriel, Prince of Dawsberg, Winfield DeLong
Bolaroz, Prince of Asphalio, John Willard
Prince Lorenz, his son, Herbert Charles

"THE FAMILY," the Messrs. Shubert will present at the Opera House tonight "The Family," an American play by Robert J. Davis. In Boston, where the play had a remarkable run, its simplicity of theme, strongly developed—the sincerity of its appeal, and the admirable manner in which it was acted resulted in the most lavish praise from the critics. For real heart interest and vitality it is said to surpass "Way Down East" and "The Old Homestead."

To keep the family together, and the ties unbroken, is the aim of Mrs. Sneed, the mother, and the manner in which this is accomplished through love, tenderness and forgiveness, is the most beautiful and touching story true to real life. Theatrical effects are dispensed with and the story of the erring daughter is told truthfully, yet never lacking in interest.

The Sneed family has five members. Mrs. Sneed is not the usual stage mother, but is the patient, loving and lovable woman found in thousands of homes, not only in New England, but in every country and clime. John Sneed, the father, is good-natured, shiftless and a politician. Dave Sneed, the son, is a would-be sport. He dresses flashily, uses the latest slang and talks horse. He is not a bad sort, however, and when the occasion demands breaks away from his careless habits and shows himself a man.

MISS TERESA MARIDOR

As the Indian Girl.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The bill for the Merrimack Square theatre this week is one with many attractions. The headliners seem to be Messrs. Kenney and Hollis, "college boys," who present an act very funny and full of ridiculous situations. They keep up the laughter during their entire presence on the stage, their jokes, localities and stories making the specialty of particular interest, while their songs and parodies are such as might be expected from a live college club.

"Wild Flower" is the title of a one-act play presented by Beauval, Maridor & Co. It is a bright piece of comedy, and well played with a vein of seriousness which makes a fit climax to a love story. An Indian girl is the figure in the sketch, she having been deserted by her army lover, and she goes to New York to find him, and there discovers that he is to marry the daughter of a millionaire.

Miss T. Maridor plays the part of the Indian girl in a very acceptable manner, while William J. Madden makes an ideal lover; Arthur Beauval, a well known actor, plays the role of the "old general."

The three Ross Sisters prove to be very clever comedians. They sing a variety of new and interesting songs, which are very entertaining. Tom Bateman as a "sailor boy" tells a lot of amusing stories and sings a number of comic songs. Towards the close of an encore to his main act he winds up with some original dances.

The moving pictures, as usual, are very fine, and altogether last night the audience was well pleased.

Last week was a very successful one and this week it seems will be equally so, judging from last night's attendance.

denouement. It is from this climax that the drama gains its name.

Broad questions are raised by the drama, which holds up business and social success in sharp contrast with domestic happiness.

A strong company headed by Elizabeth Royall will present the play here. Seats on sale.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The Highland laddie boy, Peter Donald, and his bonnie lassie, Miss Meta Carson, proved to be the centre of attention of the Hathaway theatre yesterday afternoon and evening. They appeared in a sketch entitled "Alex McLean's Dream," which proved to be an excellent singing and dancing comedy of plauds and Highland humor.

Speaking about humor, it is probably one of the funniest pieces that has been presented to the vaudeville public for years.

Mr. Donald takes the part of "Alex McLean," who is returning from a Scotch ball, while Miss Carson portrays the dual role of "Effie Stewart," an old sweetheart, and "Mrs. McLean," the wife of "Alex."

It seems that when "Alex" went to the ball he secured too many Scotch highballs and as he staggered through the streets on his way home to his lassie he had to stand and hold on to and speak to every lamppost he came to. Despite the fact that he was under the weather, he was able to sing in a manner which kept the audience attentive and resulted in subsequent applause.

The feature of the sketch is the fact that Mr. Donald is a Scotchman and not an imitator and he sings the songs of his homeland in a manner which is greatly appreciated. Then again he sings songs of his own which are sung in his own inimitable manner among them being "I'm Gettin' Sad," "About Mary," and "My Heart Aye Warm as the Tarlan."

Both Mr. Donald and Miss Carson appear in the kilts which are appropriate to the sketch, and speaking about the latter she is a dainty little lady who could not fail to please the most exacting audience. She has one of those sweet voices which appeals to a person, and she can shake her feet a wee bit besides.

Laugh and the world laughs with you," is an old saying, but talking about sayings—well, never mind that it is the laughs that we are thinking of, and when it comes to laughter and other mirth provokers which cause you to hold your sides so you will not burst the buttons off your vest and not die of heart failure, you just want to see that twenty-minute sketch entitled "Run in a Fire House." The "farfar" not fire, is put on by the Ellis Rowan Co. and is a regular burlesque on the work of firemen responding to an alarm. The men—there are 12 of them—all comedians and acrobats, do not kinds of stunts.

When the curtain is raised there are a fire engine, two horses and a number of men brought to view. The engine is rather shaky, so are the men, but the latter shake their feet as do the two horses, the animals being very clever with their pedal extremities. The fire alarm sounds, but what of that, the men are having a good time and it is a case of pleasure before business and with that motto uppermost in the minds of the firemen they do not act until they conclude their dancing. "Then there is a great scramble to hitch the horses and go to the fire."

The scene changes and the firemen arrive at the fire. The building is burning and the inmates of the house are in perilous positions, but the firemen, thanks to their acrobatic abilities, are able to save the inmates, and some of the persons in the building are able to save themselves. The jumping into the life net and stunts done by the firemen when the front of the porch falls away are laughable to say the least, as is the work of the horses on the fire engine.

When it comes to a downright vaudeville sketch Eugene Jerge and Edith Hamilton are all to the merry. Their little act is entitled "A Variety of Nonsense," and it is nonsense, but the kind of stuff that is appreciated by the theatregoing public. There is a diversity of singing, dancing and jokes handed out which causes much applause.

The Four Grohvinis, three of one and one of the other, are very good when acrobatic stunts are taken into consideration. Three of the quartet do straight stunts, while the other shows off well in the comedy end. The acrobatic feats on the small tables is enough to satisfy the audience without the other part of the act, though don't think for a minute that the other part of the act isn't good, for the four people are very clever.

J. Arthur O'Brien and company present "His Wife's Butler," which is a farce comedy that is rather novel and is productive of much laughter.

Mrs. Duberty and her 15 poodles open the show, and win the little white, fifty quadrants cannot do in the line of stunts is not worth doing.

Princess Miroff gives a novelty singing and dancing act, which is greatly appreciated.

The moving pictures come at the conclusion of the performance.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

There is a varied program at this popular house for the first three days of this week. Belle Hathaway's troupe of trained monkeys are mighty clever entertainers and a great treat for the children. The Cowboy quartet have an original singing act, and harmonize well, both in sentimental and popular songs. A pleasing number on the program during the week is the two Sisters who tickle the ivories in a fascinating manner and sing several catchy songs. The singing acrobats give a novelty act that is full of surprises. The pictures are varied and timely. One is "Drumsticks," a Thanksgiving story.

THEATRE VOYONS

"Into the Jaws of Death" sounds thrilling enough for anyone and it correctly describes the feature film at the Theatre Voyons today. This picture magnificently staged tells a story of a fireman's life in a most sensational manner, but never going beyond the everyday possibilities of the life of the firefighter. Thursday the Theatre Voyons will feature a real news picture in Lisbon during the Portuguese revolution. This picture taken on the spot tells a most vivid story of the change from king to republic and the people, and it should be seen by everyone at all interested in the affairs of today.
